Supers eyeing $40M budget

Public hearing on plan set for this Tuesday

BY BENNIE SHALLBETTER
Staff Writer

Increased funding for roads and bridges, funds for improvements to the sand beach, funds to replace antiquated election equipment, and funds for a preliminary study centering on the improvement of area seawalls are highlights of the proposed 2003/2004 Board of Supervisors budget. Proposed expenditures total $33,905,758 with an ending cash balance of $6,911,518 bringing the total to a proposed $40,817,276.

A public hearing to discuss the proposed budget will begin at 10 a.m. on Tuesday, September 2 at the Coast Electric meeting room on Main Street just off of Hwy. 90.

The road and bridge fund is proposed to be increased by about ten percent next year, hopefully good news to many county residents who have requested road paving and improvements.

Election equipment will be replaced all over the county to bring voting machines up to modern standards. Grants will fund much of the project.

Southern Regional considers budget

BY BENNIE SHALLBETTER
Staff Writer

Southern Regional Wastewater Management District board members looked over a proposed budget this week that increases spending in the district from last year's $1,986,981 to a proposed $2,593,903 for 2003/2004. Additional spending come in the form of an increase from last year's $793,982 to a proposed $945,500 for plant management; from last year's $242,100 to a proposed $306,000 for administration costs and from last year's $950,899 to a proposed $1,342,403 for debt service. The board will vote on the proposal on September 9.

The increase is hardly a surprise to the district and its customers who fully expected the increased spending largely as a result of the increased debt service payments for an $11 million expansion finished last year. Payments to the SRF loan for the expansion will increase the service roughly $400,000 this year.

Smaller increases in the area of administration come as a result of some improvement projects which district administrator Sheryl Colson said must be done this next year. The administration building has long needed a new roof and various other minor improvements will also be completed, such as painting projects.

If approved, salaries will increase seven percent across the board as a cost of living raise.

No district employees received raises in last year's budget. Colson also has asked that a part time office employee be brought on full time. At the same time the other part time employee in the office has reduced their hours.

Operation and maintenance costs have also risen with increased costs for sludge removal, lab costs, treatment supplies such as polymer, utility costs, and fees for permit compliance, Colson said.

On Wednesday, Colson said she would like to cut the proposed budget by an additional $50,000 to $100,000. Costs in the district will be split between its three customers, Waveland, Bay St. Louis, and Hancock Water and Sewer District. Each will pay according to the percentage of use of the treatment services.

Hancock County government will also share in the costs by paying a proposed $69,600 for operation and maintenance costs and $201,660 for the debt service. As new districts come on line each will pay their share of district costs.

Bay woman claims abuse at jail

BY SHANNON JENKINS
Staff Writer

A Bay St. Louis woman has accused a Hancock County Jail officer of punching her in the jaw after she was arrested on July 19.

In a statement to the Hancock County Sheriff's Department, Debra McGuinness claimed the incident occurred after she "begged and pleaded for her Nitroglycerin several times."

McGuinness, 44, says she has a history of several medical conditions, including mild angina (a heart problem). She claims a jailer came into her cell and said, "You don't know the meaning of shut up, do you?"

It was then he allegedly punched her in the jaw and strapped her onto a wooden board. McGuinness said the jailer knelt, on her upper thigh in the process of strapping her down, which caused "a large contusion on

(her) inner thigh."

She claimed she was left in handcuffs with her ankles shackled. She also said she did not receive any of her medication for 14 hours.

McGuinness was charged with resisting arrest, destruction of public property and domestic violence.

Officer Kenny Hurt said McGuinness filled out a report but refused to make a taped statement at the sheriff's department. Hurt said he then turned the matter over to the FBI.

An FBI official in Jackson confirmed that the matter was reported to a local agent, but the evidence presented by McGuinness did not justify the opening of a full investigation at this time.

Burglars struck the Telecom LLC's Bay St. Louis office Saturday night and left with an undetermined amount of cash and a large number of cell phones, according to Bay St. Louis Chief Frank McNeil.

Telecom LLC company's owner is offering a $1,000 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the suspects and return of the $8,000 worth of cell phones taken," Bay Detective Don Watson, who is leading the investigation of the burglary, said Wednesday.

Anyone with any type of information is asked to call the Bay St. Louis Police Department at 467-9221.

Night shift Sgt. Robert O'Neal, at 1:20 a.m. Sunday morning, while making his rounds discovered a broken window at Telecom, 295 Highway 90, Suite 26, Bay St. Louis, in the Marketown Shopping Center," Watson reported.

Watson indicated the burglary occurred between a 5 p.m. Saturday closing and the 1:20 a.m. Sunday morning discovery of the crime. Tammy Huff is the local manager of Telecom.

Other Bay Officers at the scene of the burglary included, Sgt. Rick Fayard and Officer David Gardache.

Captain charged with attempted murder

THE SEA COAST ECHO

A Bay St. Louis boat captain may face prison time after he allegedly tried to run over two of his own deckhands with his boat off the coast of Terrebonne Parish, La.

Ban Van Cao, 49, was charged with two counts of attempted second-degree murder after an Aug. 10 boat trip where he allegedly forced the two men off his boat, the Captain BK, and attempted to run them over, authorities say.

Tho Lam, 22, of Biloxi, and Hai Van Lam, 24, of Bay St. Louis, were rescued by the Coast Guard in what first appeared to be an accident.

The men were hospitalized with minor injuries. With the help of an interpreter, a social worker later heard the men's accusations.

Cao was recently arrested in Hancock County.

He waived extradition and was turned over to Terrebonne authorities.

Cao faces up to 50 years in prison for each charge if convicted.

Cuevas' Quotes

Have a safe Labor Day

The long Labor Day weekend has brought lots of folks to our community, and also a few of our residents are away visiting other areas.

Our highways are crowded with vehicles and law enforcement agencies are at full force checking for drivers who are DUIs.

The same thing is happening on our many waterways, as boating traffic is heavy and there are still a few who like to drink and operate a water craft. Law enforcement agents are also looking for BUIs too.

It is very dangerous to drink and drive a vehicle, as well as operate a water craft. If you do drink, please do not drink and drive or operate a boat.

Hopefully everyone will have a great Labor Day experience.

P.S. You may want to take an umbrella along, just in case a show springs up.

Today marks the second day of the second annual Knights of Columbus Summer's End Festival at the St. Augustine Soccer Field, Highway 90 at Seminary Drive.

Activities begin at noon today with live entertainment will be provided by Flipside from 7 p.m. to 11 p.m.

On Monday the festival gets underway at 10 a.m. with entertainment from noon to 4 p.m.

There will be carnival rides, arts and crafts booths, kiddie games, a white elephant booth, and plenty of good foods such as catfish, shrimp, seafood gumbo, red beans and rice, jambalaya, hot dogs, hamburgers, etc. and refreshments.

The Bay St. Louis Knights of Columbus Council 1522 is located on Seminary Drive.

Today is also the Coleman Avenue Coalition's Wave Fest starting with activities at 10 a.m.

There are all types of activities to take place at the Wave Fest including at sand Sculpture contest, live bands, stage entertainment, car show, foods of all types, arts and crafts booths, and all this will be topped off with a Fireworks Display by the City of Waveland at dusk.

Coleman Avenue will be closed to vehicular traffic, for activities and several events will take place with bands on the beach at Coleman, and special performances by groups on Coleman Avenue.

This year's Wave Fest will be the largest yet, so get you walking shoes out and have a great time.

A new event this year for the Labor Day weekend is taking place at the Hancock County Equine Center and Livestock Arena located on the Kiln-DeLisle Road.

The first Food and Music Festival began Saturday and will continue today and will have live music this afternoon with music provided by Danny Ncaise and The Country Playboys and the Beach Brothers Band. Gates open at 10 a.m. with parking and admission free.

Have you forgotten — 9/11?

There is a popular country song today that asks about Sept. 11, 2001: "Have you forgotten?"

It's a good question and a fair one. It's a question every American ought to ask themselves right now. I personally haven't forgotten. Never will. I saw the burning Pentagon from my office window that day. I saw the sad and sobering wreckage of the World Trade Center just days later. I cannot forget 9/11, and perhaps this is why I believe America must remain unified and patient with our ongoing War on Terror, no matter what the battlefield — at home, in Afghanistan or in Iraq.

It's important to remember the most current battle in our War on Terror within

FROM THE SENATE

By U.S. Senator
Trent Lott

Iraq is not a Bush mission, a Republican mission, or a Democrat mission. It is an American mission. Americans must remain committed to this mission lest we forget the lessons of 9/11. Iraq, Afghanistan, the Pentagon or the World Trade Center — all are forever linked by their ties to terrorism. The first two are homelands for terror; the latter were targets.

We've got to make sure there are no more homelands for terror abroad and no more targets here at home. Iraq's dictator supported terrorists. Despite international warnings for 12 years, he made it clear he had the means to arm himself and his terrorist cohorts, with the world's most deadly weapons.

That's why Saddam Hussein had to go, and that's why more than 100,000 troops, mostly American and British, are now occupying Iraq, helping the Iraqi people build a better nation and a better future for themselves.

We've lost hundreds of good people in Iraq; that's for sure. Sadly, we probably will sustain more losses. However, we cannot forget the fact that 3,000 people, most of them Americans, were killed in just minutes on 9/11, on our own soil. They leaped 100 stories to their deaths, holding hands.

They crashed their airplane into the ground to spare others. They were at their desks one minute at the Pentagon, in eternity

Gulfside project article omitted some details

Dear Sir:
In Ms. Shallbetter's article on the Planning Commission August 25, 2003, Hearing for the proposed Gulfside Methodist Assembly's proposed project, several comments were omitted, for example:

1. A Gulfside spokesman incorrectly stated that there had been no hearings on Sundance. On the contrary, there was a SRO hearing on Sundance, and Brown Avenue was paved, among other improvements, in response to the concerns expressed by the neighborhood residents at that hearing.

I am baffled as to why Ms. Martin, who has lived in the area for many years and has experienced flooding on Beach Boulevard and storm damage to the Gulfside beach front property, claims NOT to understand that the property for their proposed project is wetlands, in a flood and mandatory evacuation zone and with access limited to narrow, flood prone Sears Avenue. Developments to build multi-family housing in the same area requested by Gulfside were proposed by both Sundance and Buccola and both were denied permits.

So, no, Ms. Martin and Reverend Peters, the hazardous location and NOT race is the reason that this proposed project and the other proposed projects were denied.

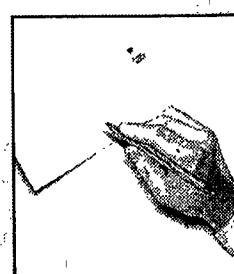

2. When queried by Commissioner Gagnet regarding the fact that HUD would not approve grants for faith based projects, a Gulfside spokesman stated that they would form and be a part of a tax exempt corporation to manage the project and further stated that they expected construction and improvements costs to be provided by public funding.

Obviously, placing the elderly in an isolated, limited access area, indicating there no plans to assist residents in the event of a mandatory evacuation and, if any resident could no longer care for themselves, they would be asked to leave meet does not meet this criteria in Ms. Shallbetter's article, Ms. Martin is quoted as saying unnamed persons had said, "...all blacks and Asians would fill the project" and "...we are going to build crack houses."

I don't know where Ms. Martin and the others heard these disgusting comments, as the only racist comments that I have personally heard were made by the Gulfside contingent at the Planning Commission Hearing.

Additionally, contrary to statements made by Gulfside at the hearing, the statement attached to the petitions circulated by the residents does not mention race.

The concept and Ms. Anderson's plans are excellent and would be a great asset to Bay-Wave, if built in a safe, accessible area. However, regardless of the amount of yelling or name calling by Gulfside project proponents; it will not change the fact that the location is unsuitable.

BSLLT offers 'Shirely Valentine'

BY SHANNON JENKINS

Staff Writer

Although Kim Diecidue is no stranger to the stage, her latest project has her venturing into a spotlight she's never been in before.

On Sept. 6-7, Diecidue will star in Bay St. Louis Little Theatre's production of "Shirley Valentine," a one-woman show.

This particular production, presented as dinner theater at the Bay-Waveland Yacht Club, has provided Diecidue with many new challenges as an actress.

"Doing this is going way out of my comfort zone," she said. "I've really been working hard to get the character right because I want the audience to be able to pick up on the subtle attitude change in Shirley throughout the play."

She said performing in a one-person show is more difficult than working in a cast for several reasons.

"There's no one to interact with; so, there's less artistic feedback," she said. "The hardest thing about doing a one-person show is the stress of knowing that the success of the show is on me. Fortunately, the show's insightful and creative director, LaDonna Darrah, is a great asset in the development of the character."

Diecidue said the massive amount of memorization also adds to the show's difficulty.

Kim Diecidue will star in the one-woman comedy, "Shirley Valentine," Sept. 6-7.

The show, however, offers more than just challenges. Diecidue has discovered that she and Shirley have many things in common. "Both Shirley and I are in our early 40s, and we both have grown children," she said. "In some ways, I've walked in Shirley's shoes. I have taken a huge leap of faith at one time in my life so I could get to a better place. You know, when you've stayed in a bad situation for way too long and then one day you wake up and say, 'Done!' Then you go and do something about making your life better. It's scary, but liberating."

Because of these similarities, Diecidue said Shirley, a British housewife confined to her village and her husband, has been the most "real" character she has ever played. "She's got a compelling combination of goodness, naiveté, determination and self-respect," Diecidue said. "She's a very likable character. I truly appreciate the opportunity and challenge of this show because it allows me to live a bigger life."

"And, like Shirley Valentine says, 'It's a crime, really ... to live such a little life when God gives us so much more to live a bigger life with.'" the next. Most of those lost were everyday people — men, women and little children who were our countrymen, our neighbors and our friends. America must not forget them.

To most Mississippians, the War on Terror's goals are crystal clear.

America has resolved to fight terrorism here at home by instituting unprecedented homeland security measures which so far have done their job, preventing another major attack from happening in America. Most folks also understand that this War on Terror is indeed a global military fight — a commitment to stop terrorists and uproot terrorist organizations on their home turf before they can kill Americans. We're in a war, and Iraq was an inevitable battlefield in that war.

Yet, to the doubtless glee of our terrorist enemies, right now some people are questioning and even obsessing about America's reasons for ending Iraq's brutal regime. It's almost as though 9/11 is some far off irrelevant memory, and that terrorism is a remote threat — as far removed as Pearl Harbor or the horrors wrought by Hitler. Now, there's nothing wrong with questioning government policy, but forgetting that our country was attacked and remains at risk is quite another thing. We cannot afford to forget the threat of terrorism and those 3,000 killed on 9/11. If we do, we stand in peril with the chance of experiencing another 9/11 or maybe something much worse.

As your Senator, I've always looked at the Iraq campaign as a difficult aspect of the greater War on Terror. It will take a lot of time and patience. Obviously there are limits to the amount of time and money America can invest in Iraq, but the mission is not over yet. This is going to require perseverance. It's going to take money, too. We must continue to secure additional help from other countries. We should work with the United Nations as much as we can, and maybe the answer is NATO. In fact, I think NATO could have a role in Iraq as it has in Afghanistan and in the Balkans.

It is not just a Bush mission in Iraq. It is an American mission. Bringing freedom and democracy where there once was terror is a worthwhile endeavor and a necessary one. Think about 9/11 and remember that the only thing standing between our shores and terrorists is our resolve to confront terror — in Iraq or wherever terror may be. To anyone who cannot see what's at stake in Iraq, I ask: Have you forgotten?

A Message from Ralph West
Candidate
District 1 Supervisor

While talking to people as a candidate for Supervisor in District One on the Republican ticket, it has been suggested that I put some of my background in the newspaper as I would not have time to explain it all to each and every voter. I was a member of the New Orleans Fire Department for 22 years, retiring with the rank of Captain. During my tenure with the fire department, I was the Administrator and Leader of the development and administration of the Hazardous Materials Response Team. This experience gave me a broad knowledge of public safety, homeland security, natural resources and environmental concerns. Among my duties as such, under the leadership of the Superintendent of Fire, I had to handle the $51 million dollar fire department budget. This experience gave me a broad knowledge of government and budgetary concerns.

I am a graduate of Delgado Community College with an Associate of Applied Science Degree. I am certified in the following: City Management and Planning, Emergency Medical Technician, Hazardous Materials Compliance and Enforcement, Supervision and Personnel Effectiveness, and Railroad Derailment and Containment of Hazardous Materials Spillage. I also hold a National Fire Academy Fire Instructor I rating. I served in the U.S. Coast Guard with an Honorable Discharge in the Marine Environmental Protection Division, attaining the rank of Petty Officer 3rd Class. I am a lifetime member of the Louisiana State Firemen's Association and a member of the Exchange Club. I belong to Summerville Masonic Lodge # 64 in Preston, Mississippi.

My concerns are the concerns of the residents of District One and Hancock County. I will strive for a better safer Hancock County with improved services for all of our residents. Hancock County is growing in leaps and bounds and I feel like I have the tools and abilities to pull us into the Twenty First Century without destroying our area. This is just an overview and if you need any additional information please call 466-5856. My wife Margaret and I have resided on Farrar Lane since 1993. My daughter Vanessa Favre and mother-in-law Mary Gilmore are Waveland residents also.

September is Library Card Sign-Up Month

Your library card: Passport to a whole world of information

THE SEA COAST ECHO

Can you name the one item that gives you access to nearly everything on the World Wide Web and in print and provides personal assistance to help you find what you are looking for? It's your library card. This year the American Library Association (ALA) is reminding you to Get carded @ your library and enjoy all the important things to which a library card gives you access.

"Libraries are unique in that they are the one community institution committed to providing equal access to everyone, anywhere and in any format," said Prima Plauché, Hancock County Library System director. "And librarians are the ultimate search engine, helping you and your family find what you need for your health, jobs and other needs."

Celebrated throughout the month of September, National Library Card Sign-up Month encourages people to check out what's new at their library by signing up for a library card.

Libraries today offer more than just books - they have videos, CDs, computers, Internet access and more. Libraries also are dynamic community centers; providing story hours and other programs for children and adults. And librarians are on hand to help recommend materials suitable for various ages and interests and teach critical information literacy skills - the skills to find, use and evaluate information in all formats.

Observed since 1987, Library Card Sign-up Month is a time when ALA and libraries across the country remind parents that a library card is the most important school supply of all. Studies show that children who are read to in the home and who use the library perform better in school and are more likely to continue to use the library as a source of lifetime learning.

During Library Card Sign-up Month, families that sign up for a Hancock County Library System library card will receive a Print Pal for each child. The Print Pal, provided courtesy of the Library Foundation of Hancock County and the Kiwanis Club of Hancock County, is a brochure on which to record vital information about each child, along with a place for fingerprints and a photograph.

More information on the Hancock County Library System is available on the World Wide Web at www.hancock.lib.ms.us. The library's automated catalog is available through Dial Pac, whereby users may access this service via modem from their home, school or office computers. Or call the Bay St. Louis-Hancock County Headquarters Library at 467-5282.

Andrea Yeager is the owner of Andrea's Annex, a low-carbohydrate, low-sugar, low-fat gourmet products and kitchenware store at 2602 13th St., Gulfport.

"We opened the store a year ago to help those who needed to restrict the sugar, carbohydrate and fat content in their diets," said Yeager, who writes food columns for The Sun Herald and the Delta Democrat Times. "I'm a diabetic, so I know how frustrating it is to try and find good-tasting low-sugar products."

"So many products out there taste like dog food, and who wants to eat that?" Yeager asked.

Prior to opening her store, Yeager, who lives in Long Beach, was the domestic violence intervention program coordinator and educator for the Gulf Coast Women's Center for Nonviolence, a position that she held for four years.

After spending 25 years in daily newspapers at The Sun Herald, the Houston Chronicle in Houston, Texas, and the Orange Leader in Orange, Texas, Yeager left her post as managing editor of The Sun Herald to stay home with her daughter.

"We adopted Elyssa, and my husband, Allen, and I didn't wait 10 years for her to let someone else raise her," Yeager said. "I loved the two years that I spent at home with her full time. It was truly a blessing. Now, she's in middle school and definitely has her own ideas."

Andrea Yeager is a member of the Gulfport Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors and is active in a prayer ministry, New Beginnings, in Gulfport. She and her family attend Gulf Coast Worship Center in Long Beach.

"I feel that Andrea's Annex is a way of helping others," Yeager said. "Diets don't work; I know I've tried. It's important for people to develop a healthier way of eating and living. Good nutrition is a lifestyle."

Sandra Clifford and her husband, David, moved to Bay St. Louis from New Orleans seven years ago after enjoying their weekends in Pass Christian for a number of years. They are truly delighted with the relaxed life-style that the Mississippi Gulf Coast offers. Sandra currently serves on the Board of the Beachfront Property Owners Assoc.

Prior to joining Latter & Blum Realtors in Bay St. Louis, Sandra enjoyed a very successful sales career in New Orleans for many years. She is a native Mississippian, having grown up in Vicksburg and Natchez, then attending USM.

Sandra's favorite past time, shopping, is a great "fit" for selling Real Estate. "So many of my clients are New Orleansians who have fond memories of coming to the Gulf Coast as children. They have some idea what they are looking for, but are not aware of all the areas that might fit their dreams, or their wallets. We looked for a long time before we found our home, proving that it may take a while to find just the right property. It is a real treat to help people realize a dream."

In Bay St. Louis, the Knights of Columbus #1522 are sponsoring the 2nd Annual Summer's End Festival. The event began yesterday and continues through Monday.

Festivities will begin at noon today with music by Flipside from 7 p.m. until 11 p.m. Beginning at 1 p.m. music and entertainment will be by live radio remote with DJ personalities from Magic 93.7 and K99 FM.

On Monday, Labor Day, the festival will get underway at 10 a.m. with entertainment from noon until 4 p.m.

From 6 p.m. until 10 p.m., musical entertainment will be by Keith Hoda and Country Sounds. At 7 p.m. a drawing for the 50/50 Raffle will be held.

Both days will feature family fun with kiddie games, carnival rides, arts and crafts booths, a white elephant booth, a parade of prizes, and plenty to eat and drink.

Food will include catfish, shrimp seafood gumbo, red beans and rice, jambalaya, hot dogs, hamburgers and snacks and desserts.

The city of Waveland and the Coleman Avenue Coalition will host the third Annual Wave Fest today starting at 10 a.m.

The all-day affair will culminate with a fireworks display put on by the city of Waveland on the beach at dusk.

Back by popular demand will be a raffle, a sand sculpture contest, children's activities, live bands, community dance, theater and choral groups, antique and classic car show and the fireworks display.

Added this year will be a 5K run earlier that morning, a one mile fun run, beach soccer and more. The Garfield Ladner Municipal Pier will be open to foot traffic only.

There will be two stages, one located on the beach front and one on Coleman Avenue.

This year's festivities will also feature and array of food and arts and crafts booths.

Bands and entertainment will begin at 11 a.m. and continue until 8 p.m. Bands will begin at the beach with Cadillac Jack followed by the Porch Rockers, Pat Murphy and the Blackened Blues Band.

On the Coleman Avenue stage entertainment will begin with the House Kats followed by special events with the J. R. Jones Country Band wrapping up the day at 4 p.m.

Special events include performances by the Bay High Steppers, Arabesque School of Dance, D'head Dance Academy, Coast Chorale, the Olde Town Players, The Dance Company, Brooklyn Center, the Bayhl School of Dance and the BSL Little Theater.

Coleman Ave. will close to through traffic at 10 a.m., with parking for the event available at the soccer field at Central and Coleman and on surrounding streets. Festival goers and runners are asked to use the alternate parking areas.

Car show participants may begin parking at 7:30 a.m. and must be parked by 10 a.m. Participants should expect to remain parked until 4 p.m. when a procession will be led out of the festival area to the beach road. Judging will be held at Noon and prizes awarded at 2 p.m.

T-shirts and posters with this year's Wave Fest logo designed by local artist Scott Blackwell will also be available. Tanks and T-shirts for both men and women will be available in both Tie-dye and solid colors.

Budget -- $40M

Major improvements are proposed for the beach area with about $2 million proposed for a new sand beach project and renourishment program, as well as a preliminary study which is the first step in an extensive project with the Corps of Engineers to replace all area seawalls.

Some additional improvements to the Hancock County Courthouse are also included in next year's expenditures.

The Hancock County Library System is among the disappointed funding recipients next year. But though Supervisors have proposed cutting millage to the library by .16 mils, the actual dollar amount allotted for library funds will go up from last years funds of $891,427 to a recommended $920,000 for the 2003/2004 budget year.

The amount does represent a decrease of about $61,000 less than the amount requested by the library and will prevent initiation of many hoped for improvements, said director Prima Plaque. This is the second year that Supervisors have cut millage allotted to the Library System.

Other proposed budget highlights include an increase in funding to the multipurpose arena to $157,247 and the Sheriff's Department to $4,535,198. Other proposed cuts include funding to the Tax/Assessors office, buildings and grounds, McLeod Park, and parking lots and sidewalks, who will all receive less than their requested funds under the proposed budget.

MDEQ forms brand new Groundwater, Assessment, and Remediation Division

The Mississippi Department of Environmental Quality (MDEQ) has consolidated the assessment and cleanup functions of brownfields, federal facilities, uncontrolled sites, underground storage tank (UST) sites, and other voluntary cleanup areas into one newly formed division called the Groundwater Assessment and Remediation Division or GARD. Groundwater planning functions have also been merged into this new division, allowing for greater access to information related to the state of and pollutant susceptibility of Mississippi's groundwater resources.

"The new division should allow better communication and consistency among these programs, resulting in better decisions related to protecting Mississippi's groundwater resources, the public health, and the environment," said Phil Bass, director of MDEQ's Office of Pollution Control.

Other changes that have resulted from this reorganization include moving the Solid Waste Management Branch and the Recycling Branch, which was originally housed within the old Groundwater Division, into the Environmental Permits Division.

"We are always looking for ways to make the work processes better and faster," "I believe that this reorganization is a big step in that direction," said Jerry Banks, chief of the newly formed division.

For more information regarding the functions of the newly formed division, please go to MDEQ's new website at www.deq.state.ms.us.

Hawks drop opener 27-14

BY DWAYNE BREMMER
CONTRIBUTING WRITER

The Hancock Hawks experienced a frustrating opening to their 2003 football season, suffering a 27-14 loss to the Long Beach Bearcats Friday night.

The Hawks were their own worst enemy, with a wet field and bad bounces causing five turnovers. Hancock also committed 11 penalties for 117 yards.

"We made too many mistakes, and Long Beach took it to us," said Hawks head coach Rocky Gaudin.

The Hawks got off to a good start, after a 14-yard punt return by David Brown gave them good field position at the Bearcats 40. Robert Domke then connected with Brown on a shovel pass for 24 yards, and the Hawks played first down at the 16. After a penalty, Domke rifled a pass to Brown in double coverage for a 30-yard touchdown. The extra point was missed, but the Hawks had the early lead 6-0 with 8:04 to play in the first quarter.

The Hawks defense held off the Bearcats on their next two drives, but disaster struck late in the first quarter when a bad exchange between Domke and Daniel Spiers caused a fumble which Carl Schwartz recovered at the Hawks 18.

The Bearcats would make the Hawks pay as Pat Ferrell hit Clayton Stevens for the Bearcats' first touchdown of the game at the 11:14 mark of the second quarter. The extra point was no good, but the score was knotted 6-6.

The Bearcats struck again, after a fumble by Braxton Necaise at the 47. Long Beach drove 53 yards in seven plays, as Ferrell and Stevens connected for a 17-yard score at the 8:04 mark. Ferrell hit Stevens for a two-point conversion, and the Bearcats had a 14-6 lead.

The Hawks' bad luck continued on their next drive when Daniel Spiers fumbled, and Xavier Mitchell returned the ball to the Hawks eight. Ferrell hooked up with Blaine Stiger for a three-yard score, and after a failed extra point, the Bearcats had jumped ahead 20-6.

The Bearcats would benefit from the Hawks' fourth fumble early in the third quarter. Eddie Bledsoe fumbled a punt return, and the Bearcats took over at the 27. The Hawks stopped the Bearcats twice on fourth down, but a questionable pass interference and ruffing the passer penalty gave the Bearcats two big first downs in the red zone. Ferrell passed to Jarvis Shelby for a six-yard score, and with 7:11 to go in the third, the Bearcats led 27-6.

The shell-shocked Hawks pulled things together as they put together a nice eight-play drive to answer the touchdown. Domke hit Brown for a 46-yard completion, and Domke ended the drive with a 15-yard strike to Myron Fairley for the touchdown. Domke hit Fairley for the two-point conversion, and the Hawks were back in the game 27-14, with 4:05 to play in the third.

The Hawks defense stopped the Bearcats on downs, with 11:53 to play in the game.

Taking over at the 25, the Hawks began another impressive drive. Domke ran for five yards, and then connected with Fairley for 17 more. Steven Dauenhauer caught a nine-yard pass, and a personal foul gave the Hawks a first down at the Bearcat 18. Hancock suffered a blow on the play, however, as Domke was knocked from the game. The Hawks moved the ball to the Bearcat two, but a fourth-down pass by Jeremy Thomas to Brown failed, and the Bearcats took over with just over four minutes to play.

The Hawks would get one final chance, but Thomas was intercepted by Ryan Bass to seal the game for the Bearcats.

The Hawks outgunned the Bearcats in total offense 224 yards to 172 yards. Domke was impressive in his first start at quarterback going 12-for-21 for 185 yards and two scores.

"We did some things well, and I think our new offense will help us win games later in the year. The good news is that this game can become a distant memory if we play well next week," Gaudin said.

Daren Kilpatrick suffered a cut to his hand, and Domke has a possible concussion, but both will hopefully be okay, Gaudin said.

The Hawks will be at home next Friday night, when they face off against the Biloxi Indians.

The Our Lady Academy Crescents (10-4) avenged a loss earlier in the season to Long Beach with a 10-15, 15-12, 15-6 victory over the Lady Bearcats on Thursday, August 28 in Bay St. Louis.

The two teams were trading points in the first game until Long Beach ripped off five consecutive points to seal the win.

The Crescents were up 4-0 in the second game and Long Beach came to tie the score and eventually take an 8-5 lead. OLA rallied to a 9-8 advantage before scoring six straight points on their final serve.

The rubber match was dominated by the Crescents winning 15-6.

Rachel Cranford tallied 16 assists in the game while Kaylee Schmitt and Rachel Cuevas each had 7 kills.

Competition continues

The 1st Annual From Wood to Water skateboarding and skimboarding competition continues today with the skimboarding competition beginning at noon at the beach in front of Da Beach House in Bay St. Louis.

Top scores from the skate and skim will be added to make the winner. Trophies will be awarded to first, second and third places. A cash prize will be awarded to first place.

For more information, call the South Coast Skate Park at 228-467-8003 or Da Beach House at 228-467-9477.

Jordan Fisher led the team with 10 service points followed by Lauren Renz with 8 points.

OLA head coach Mike Meyers stated, "We started off slow in the first game and were not communicating well. In the second game, we began to move the ball well and communicate on the court. By the middle of the third game, we were playing very well. That is a credit to each of the girls in the way that they continued to play hard."

The junior varsity won 2-0 with Katherine Guichet recording 9 points and Emily Hall 7 points.

Rocks ground Eagles 36-6

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II
STAFF WRITER

It took less than a quarter for the Rock-a-chaws' defense to show the fans what they have been wanting to see for quite some time, a nasty bunch.

St. Stanislaus used a balanced attack on offense and defense to defeat the St. John Eagles 36-6 and move to 1-0 on the young season. The win stops a three-game win streak the Eagles had against the Rocks including a 34-6 decision last season.

The Rocks held St. John to 46 total rushing yards in the game and allowed just 6 yards rushing in the second half. The Eagles were close to a shutout before they scored midway through the fourth quarter.

The two teams traded blows to start the game and were feeling each other out. On the second drive of the game, SSC began to get in a groove with their bruising fullback Matt Hoda who opened gaping holes for his equally impressive partner in crime, halfback Robert Ray Smith.

Smith burst off left end for a 17-yard gain on the drive followed by some tough gains by Hoda but the Rocks turned the ball over on downs.

St. John quarterback Paul Roberts was harassed by Lee Klein, Michael Cure, Spencer Ziegler, Jordan Ellis, and Mike Deifik all game long. Each one of those Rocks had a close encounter with Mr. Roberts in his neighborhood.

St. John had an extended drive of sorts on their second possession that ultimately became a turnover on downs. Nevertheless, Presley Brown and Roman Martin showed that they were capable of toting the mail for the Eagles with some nice gains.

Twice, late in the second quarter, the Rocks got inside the Eagles' red zone and fumbled the ball away. The second fumble hurt more because the ball popped loose at the two yardline following 13-yard pass play from Tim Kulikowski to Michael Cure.

St. John tried to drive forward to run out the clock and go to halftime; however, the Rocks had different plans. The Rock defense stiffened with the play of Zach Elkins, Nick Weinmann, Stefan Sofianos, and Cure. The Rocks forced a punt situation for St. John and the Eagles' punter shanked a 10-yarder.

The Rocks scrambled their field goal unit onto the field following the punt. With :01 left on the clock, senior placekicker Michael Kivlan split the uprights for a 41-yard field goal and SSC took a 3-0 lead into intermission.

In the second half, the Rocks found their groove early and often. On the Eagles' first possession of the second half, Lee Klein and Mike Deifik combined for a devastating hit and fumble recovery at the Eagles' 32-yardline.

A minimal gain by Hoda up the middle set up a 29-yard scoring strike from Kulikowski to Cure with 10:31 left in the third quarter. Kivlan connected on the PAT and the score was 10-0.

The Rock defense held three plays and out to put the SSC offense back in striking range at the Eagles' 44-yardline. Rob Smith carried for four yards followed by Kulikowski for 5 yards. Cure hauled in a 19-yard pass from Kulikowski before Smith hit paydirt from 11 yards out with 6:04 left in the 3rd quarter. Kivlan's PAT missed leaving the score 16-0.

Jordan Ellis and Ziegler were the big hitters on the defense for the Rocks on the ensuing Eagle possession. The two players led a Rock charge that forced St. John to three plays and out. Another 10-yard punt by the Eagles gave the Rocks great field position at the 17 yardline.

Three carries by Rob Smith and the clock operator had to change the score. Smith pounded the pigskin in from 3 yards out with 2:43 left in the third quarter. Kivlan connected on the PAT to make the score 23-0.

On their next possession, the Eagles began to move the ball a bit. Martin carried for 7 and 10 yards before Antonio Hayes added a six yard rush. Hayes was thrown for a 11-yard loss on the next play and fumbled. The loose ball was picked up by Lee Klein who raced in from 28 yards out with :11 left in the third quarter. Kivlan made good on the PAT attempt and the score was 30-0.

St. John put together their only scoring drive following the kickoff from Kivlan. The Eagles used a six-play drive to get their only points of the night. The drive was highlighted by a 46-yard halfback pass from Hayes to Winfred Magee. A Rock pass interference penalty and another 13-yard reception by Magee brought the Eagles to the one yardline. Roberts called his own number and scored with 10:19 left in the game. The two-point attempt failed leaving the score 30-6.

The Rocks spread the ball around on their next drive to keep the clock moving. Kulikowski had two small runs before breaking loose for a 29-yard gain and a first down to keep the drive alive. Kulikowski connected with Brock Kelly for a 21-yard gain and another first down. Two Rock penalties helped stall the drive and SSC turned the ball over on downs.

The Eagles began to move the ball as Roberts went to the airwaves. He found Tony McRaven for a 11-yard gain and Martin for a 3-yard gain. He dropped back in the pocket on the seventh play of the drive and was met by Ziegler, Ellis and Brennan Gordon for a sack and a three yard loss. The sack gave the Rocks the ball back at the Rock 49-yardline.

SSC had the ball for five plays. Hoda ran the ball four times out of five plays. Jordan Ellis rushed once for a 15-yard gain. Hoda pushed across the goaline from four yards out with :13 left in the game. Kivlan failed on the PAT attempt to leave the score 36-6 and give SSC an opening week win in high school football.

SSC head coach Casey Wittmann stated, "This was a big win for us. St. John is always a very well-coached team. We had more numbers than they did and I think fatigue played a major role for the St. John Eagles. One of our goals were to have a big drive early in the game and we were able to do that. But, we didn't convert on it."

"The field goal just before halftime was crucial to us. We took the lead at halftime and came out ready to go in the second half. We are still working on believing in ourselves. The team is picking up where it left off last year. A focus of ours has been getting to the point where we are expecting to win each time we play. Offensively, the rain hurt a bit. The passing game was not as effective as it could have been for us due to the weather. Our backfield picked up the slack and ran very well tonight. The defense gave an outstanding effort. The senior leadership we had tonight played a big part in our success. We have the #5-ranked Oak Grove Warriors coming up next week at home. It will be good game. We have to be prepared for the Warriors and their personnel. They have one of the best running backs in the state and it will be test to stop them."

The Rocks were led on the ground by Robert Ray Smith with 15 carries for 93 yards and 2 touchdowns. Matt Hoda rushed 11 times for 57 yards. Defensively, the Rocks were led by Lee Klein, Jordan Ellis, and Mike Deifik. Ellis had 11 tackles on the night followed by Deifik and Klein with 9 each.

The Rocks will host the #5-ranked Class 5A Oak Grove Warriors 'in between the walls' at the Brother Philip Memorial Athletic Complex in bay St. Louis. Game time is set for 7:30pm.

Pass crushed
by Stone, 21-3BY STEVE SMITH
CONTRIBUTING WRITER

The 2003 Football season for the Pass Christian High Pirates began Friday night with a difficult loss to the Stone County Tomcats at MacDonald Field with generous support from the faculty, student body and community of each school.

Coach Bo Vonderbrugge's offense, with Chad Musgrove and Jeffery Hillard sharing playing time at quarterback, totaled 97 yards rushing and 47 yards passing against a tough Tomcat defense.

"Stone County's team is bigger and stronger than ours and they just wore us down," Vonderbrugge commented, "but our guys didn't lay down, they hung in there all the way."

The Tomcats took the lead early on a 79 yard run by quarterback Ervin Moore and kicked the point after for a 7 point lead with 11 minutes remaining in the first quarter.

Pass High's Brandon Riley returned the ensuing kickoff to the Pirate 28 yardline. With Chad Musgrove eluding Tomcat defenders for an 18 yard gain and Ledea Johnson and Anthony Henderson adding short yardage. The Pirates penetrated deep into Stone County territory, with the help of two Tomcat penalties totaling 15 yards. With lightning in the air the Pirate drive stalled and Pass High settled for 3 points, kicking a field goal with 6:26 remaining in the first quarter.

Stone County, putting the ball in play from their 38 yardline after the Pirate kick, moved to the Pass 25 before turning the ball over on downs. Unable to sustain a drive, the Pirates punted and Stone County set up the offense at midfield, quickly moving in and scoring on a 15 yard run by Ervin Moore. The point after kick was good and Stone County led 14-3.

Pass High answered with a drive that began at their 26 yardline, and five plays later saw the Pirates with a first down on the Tomcat 31. Chad Musgrove then broke loose for 21 yards, only to have the play nullified by an illegal block. A Pirate fumble ended the drive at the Tomcat 39.

The half ended with no further scoring and the crowd was entertained first by Stone County's band and flag team and then by a fine performance of "Black Magic Woman" by the Pass High Band and Dance Team, under the direction of Robert Bruce.

The second half was largely a defensive struggle with the only score coming on a 21 yard run by Stone County's Oshea Martin with 5:37 left in the third quarter. The point after was good and the scoring ended with Stone 21, Pass High 3.

Outstanding on defense for the Pirates were Ledea Johnson with 13 tackles, Anthony Henderson with 8, Jared Bowser with 4, and Fredrick Wiley and Jake Mladinich with 3 each.

Offensively, Anthony Henderson rushed for 43 yards, Chad Musgrove added 33 and Ledea Johnson had 21 yards.

The Pirates travel to Lance Lumpkin stadium to face the Bearcats of Long Beach next Friday.

Bay High wins big, Ferry tosses 4 TDs

BY MAURICE SINGLETON
CONTRIBUTING WRITER

The Bay High Tigers got off on the right foot with a 29-3 win over Mercy Cross at McCullough Stadium in Bay St. Louis on Friday. The Tigers took control of the game early by scoring on their first two possessions, putting the Crusaders in the awkward position of playing catch up.

The Tigers did exactly what they wanted to do with the offensive line giving quarterback Zack Ferry enough time to find open receivers. Ferry, directing the newly-instituted spread offense, passed for four touchdowns and completed 13 of 33 passes for 239 yards on the night.

"The offensive line did real well for us tonight," Coach Glenn Williams explained. "We might have had one or two hurries, but we had real good protection. We wanted to come in and throw it two thirds of the time and run in one third."

The Tigers were almost perfect on those percentages. When Ferry wasn't looking for Lorenzo Lewis, Antonio Hawkins, Brad Ladner or Micah Rogers, he was handing it off to Kyle Moran, who finished the game with 101 rushing yards.

Defensively, the Tigers swarmed and gang tackled, holding the visitors virtually scoreless, allowing a single score, a field goal, late in the fourth quarter.

Lorenzo Lewis got the Tigers going with a 56-yard opening kickoff return, giving the Tigers excellent field position at the Crusaders' 45 yardline. From there, the Tigers went to work throwing the football. On the first play from scrimmage, Ferry launched a bomb down the home sideline, which fell incomplete to Lewis.

On the next two plays, the Tigers passed for three yards to Rogers and then a 9-yard completion to Lewis for the first down. On the very next play, Ferry found Ladner across the middle to complete a 25-yard play, giving the Tigers a first-and-goal at the Crusaders 8 yardline. Two plays later Ferry found Ladner again for the score. The point-after-kick failed, but the Tigers led 6-0 with 10:04 remaining in the first quarter.

Hawkins fielded Kyle Moran's kickoff in traffic at the visitors' 40 yardline, which appeared to be an onside kick recovery. The referee ruled that an onside kick has to make contact with the ground before it may be recovered by a member of the kicking team.

The Tigers special and offensive teams were disappointed, but the defense was eager to get on the field. Trevor Adam, Jimmy Blount, Michael Gros, Jake Johnson, Shawn Moran, Jovan Williams, P.K. Keyes, Ben Davis, Jeremy Banashak, Kyle Moran, Tony Marino along with Rogers, Lewis and Hawkins and others pressured the Crusaders offense, frustrating the quarterback and disrupting blocking patterns and pass routes. The Crusaders picked up a single first down of their opening drive.

The Crusaders dropped back in punt formation, but went with a trick play instead, a pass down their side of the field. It failed, and the Tigers had excellent field position at their own 46 yardline.

Ferry lined up in the shotgun, but this time he caught the Crusaders off-side and handed off to Kyle Moran who broke free for a 26-yard run, giving the Tigers a first down at the Crusaders 28 yardline. Two plays later, Ferry hit Lewis with a screen pass on the home sideline. Lewis went inside and then broke outside, making tacklers miss as he carried the distance for the score. The point-after-kick again failed, but the Tigers took a 12-0 lead with 8:16 remaining in the first quarter.

The Tigers offense was slowed by two key turnovers later in the first quarter as Lewis came back for a Ferry pass. The ball hit off his fingertips and into the hands of a Mercy Cross defender. The second turnover was a Kyle Moran fumble after a 5-yard run.

The Tigers got a turnover of their own late in the second quarter as Gros recovered a Crusaders' fumble. The 12-0 Tigers lead held at halftime.

Following a Shawn Moran recovery of a Mercy Cross fumble at the Tigers 15 yardline, the Tigers got the ball in the end zone on consecutive pass plays, but each was nullified with a penalty. On the second play of the fourth quarter, Kyle Moran was successful on his first field goal of the season, and the Tigers led 15-0 with 11:49 remaining in the game.

The Crusaders went for the bomb of their ensuing possession, but Shawn Moran had a better read on ball and intercepted and returned it 22 yards.

Ferry from the shotgun hit Hawkins on stride who raced for the score, a 53-yard pass play, giving the Tigers a 22-0 lead with 9:41 remaining in the game.

The Crusaders turned the ball over again on its third snap as Gros recovered his second fumble of the night, this one resulting in excellent field position for the Tigers at the Mercy Cross 14 yardline.

The Tigers didn't advance the ball an inch on its first three snaps, but facing fourth down, Ferry again found Hawkins wide open for a 14-yard touchdown completion. Kyle Moran's point-after-kick concluded the Tigers scoring at 29-0 with 7:59 remaining in the game.

Mercy Cross closed out the game's scoring with a field goal with 6 seconds remaining in the game.

The win follows a winless 2002 season for the Tigers.

The City of Bay St. Louis is now operating with projected total budget revenue of $6,444,298. Of that amount 8.83 percent of such revenue is obtained through ad valorem taxes. Elvis lives at Diamondhead

THE SEA COAST ECHO
Forget what you may have heard — Elvis lives! And the best part is, he now lives on the Mississippi Gulf Coast and performs for you live every Sunday at the all-new Diamond Cove in the Diamondhead Ramada Inn.

Chicago-native and former Legends and Pure Gold performer Rich Andrews transforms to become Elvis Presley every Sunday from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. at Diamond Cove for "Brunch with the King."

"I like to think of my show as more of a tribute than an impersonation," Andrews said this past Sunday between sets, but it's one dead-on tribute.

Andrews performs Elvis' gospel selections from 11 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.; and his other rock-and-roll, rock-a-billy, blues and country hits from 12:30 to 2 p.m.

Even more impressive, on Sundays from 6-8 p.m., Andrews transforms himself into such other stars as Tony Bennett, Dean Martin and Frank Sinatra for "Sunday Dinner with the Crooners" at Diamond Cove.

Andrews says that his act and the new Diamond Cove are a perfect match.

"I like it here because they're trying to cater to a sophisticated crowd. That's the kind of people who like the music that I do."

And, he said, it doesn't hurt that "the food here is excellent."

That's due in no small

Former "Legends" star Rich Andrews brings The King to life in all his glory each Sunday at Diamond Cove at the Diamondhead Ramada.

part to Gonzo Chef Scott Blackwell, who was previously the executive chef at such deluxe eateries as Biloxi Bell at Jazzeppis's, Broadwater Properties, Roadhouse Grill, Eats Incredible Cuisine, Royal Café and the Old N'Awlins Cookery located in the French Quarter.

Blackwell's menu consists of coastal seafoods and certified black Angus steaks prepared with a nouveau Italian Creole flair, but also includes such favorites as salads, California-style wraps, and New Orleans-style po-boys and pastas. It also includes gourmet desserts, a child's menu and a daily chef's feature.

"Scott Blackwell is an outstanding chef," Andrews said.

"The people of Diamondhead will be treated well with the quality of food he serves."

Diamond Cove's owners are planning a black-tie affair dual grand opening for early November for the lounge and the restaurant.

In the meantime, the place keeps rockin' with "The King" for Sunday brunch, 12:30-2 p.m. and Karaoke with the King on Wednesday evenings.

For more information, call Diamond Cove at 255-0404 or 255-1300, ext. 313.

Silver Falls dichondra WOWS flower growers

By Norman Winter
MSU Horticulturist
Central Mississippi
Research &
Extension Center.

Several plants caught the eyes of growers from Mississippi and surrounding states who toured the flower trials during the recent Mid-South Greenhouse Growers' Conference at the Truck Crops Branch Experiment Station near Crystal Springs.

Silver Falls dichondra was one such stunning plant that offers a most unique, silver foliage.

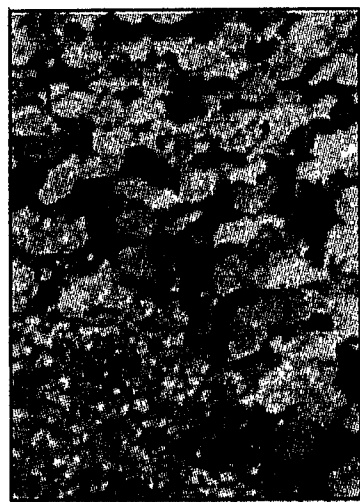

Over the next few years, Silver Falls dichondra is destined to become the coup de grace or as we say, the finishing touch -- to hanging baskets and containers. And yet it is still the perfect small groundcover. You will certainly want to look for it next spring.

For years designers have urged gardeners to choose plants that gently cascade over the rim of containers and baskets. While that is still important, the new look also includes those that simply reach the container's edge and then plummet toward the ground. The Silver Falls dichondra is a beautiful example of this new trend.

The word dichondra may initially cause a feeling of uneasiness, especially if you have battled a related lawn pest. But rest assured, Silver Falls will not become a nuisance. In fact, you will welcome with open arms this new plant from Ball Horticultural's Simply Beautiful line.

County

The Hancock County arts community was the center of attention for visiting members of the Mississippi Arts Commission this week.

Executive director Tim Hedgepeth and community development director Beth Batton spent two days in the area at the invitation of Gwen Impson and The Arts Hancock County Mississippi, a group she has been instrumental in organizing.

The two received the royal treatment with a reception and art showcase held at the Depot in Bay St. Louis on Wednesday evening. Scores of people attended the event which featured paintings, prints, wood carvings, pottery, books and poetry by members of The Arts. Music by Mark Guest and Jeb Stuart added a pleasant air to the evening.

Hedgepeth spoke to the group on the economic impact of the arts and cited several recent studies that tied arts to economic and community development. He also commended The Arts for taking a leadership role and being a model in partnering with the Chamber of Commerce, the Tourism Board and the Hancock County Library.

Hedgepeth and Batton also attended a rehearsal of the Bay St. Louis Little Theater.

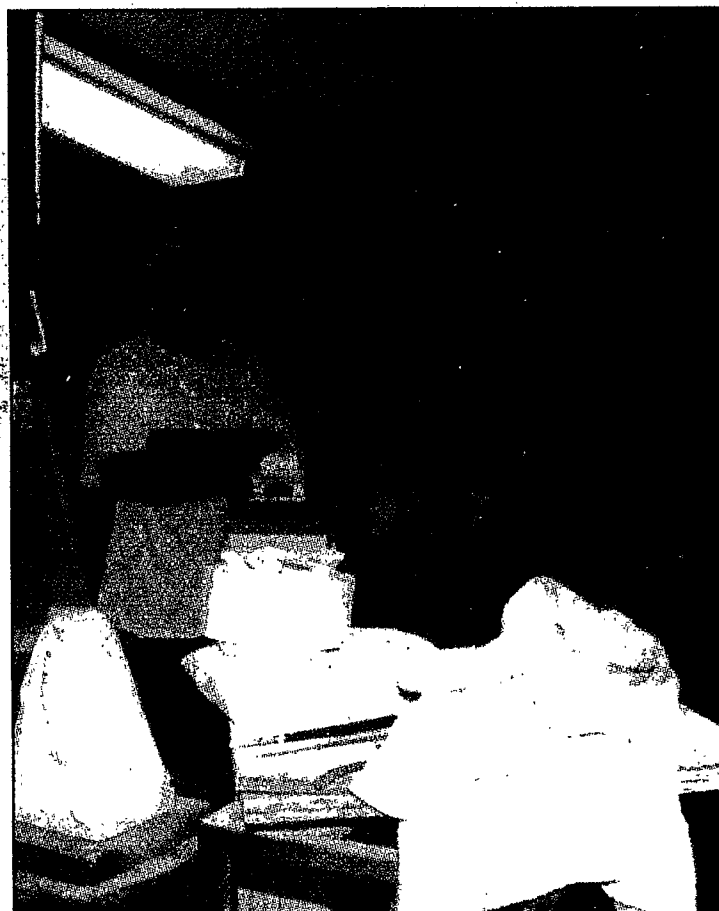

On Thursday the city of Bay St. Louis provided a van and its director of Cultural Affairs, Mike Cuevas, as tour guide. Cuevas, along with Impson, and Grants and Recruitment officer for The Arts Claire Haun gave Hedgepeth and Batton a mini-tour of area galleries, studios and cultural highlights in the area.

The tour began with breakfast at Da Beach House where photographer presented the two with signed copies of his

The buckle in the box in the bedroom drawer

I like watching the Antiques Roadshow on television. We don't watch the original show that's shown on Mondays; we are usually doing something then.

We have more time on Sundays, and after watching the news, Stella and I switch to Mississippi TV and watch the repeat version of the show while eating supper in the kitchen. I like the show because it's entertaining for the personal stories as well as the surprise in the seemingly immense values many of the objects are appraised for.

But I find that sometimes the stories and the appraised monetary values of the objects have no relationship with one another. Let me make up an example:

"Ma'am, you say this belt buckle saved your father's life in Korea?"

"Yes. A sniper at Inchon fired at him while he was trying to knock out an enemy tank. The buckle absorbed most of the blow and deflected the bullet enough so that he was only wounded. He came home and we took care of him till he died last year. But he had a wonderful, wonderful life and we all loved him very much."

"Well, I should tell you that there are a lot of belt buckles that have deflected enemy sniper fire in almost all our wars. Unfortunately the going price for Korean War buckles that have deflected bullets is not very high, perhaps $200. As a point of information to our viewers, Revolutionary War belt buckles that have deflected British bullets are much more in demand and have more value.

"However, your father's belt buckle is nickel-plated which is quite rare. Most of the buckles I have seen that have deflected enemy bullets in the Korean War are brass.

Plus, I see you also have also brought to show our viewers, the original Government Issue box the belt buckle was issued in. That's wonderful. As I turn the box over, we can see it has a little ten digit number stamped on the side. This is important as it gives the date and place of manufacture. The numbers indicates that the box was made in Madison, Wisconsin which also is very rare. Most of the belt buckle boxes made during the Korean War were made in Amarillo, Texas"

"Yes, father always kept the buckle in tissues in that box in his dresser book. From there the tour proceeded to the city of Waveland to Mombo Graphics where owner Scott Blackwell demonstrated the silk screening process and presented them with Wave Fest T-shirts.

Other features, such as the tile mosaic at City Hall by Elizabeth Veglia, the art collection at the new Library and the Civic Center renovation were also noted.

Back in the Bay, the group visited with master potter Talle Johnson at Bay Clay Studio, Impson's Turquoise Turtle print studio, Veglia's tile studio, met with the many and varied artisans at the Bay Artist's Co-op, and concluded with a tour and lunch at The Lumbeyard provided by Vicki Niolet.

The group also visited St. Rose Church.

After lunch some of the group continued to Olde Town in the Bay and visited Serenity Gallery and the Executive director of the Mississippi Arts Commission and community arts director Beth Batton (left) visit with students at the Turquoise Turtle and owner Gwen Impson on Thursday.

Quarter Moon and viewed downtown murals.

The visit was a clear success. Throughout the tour both Hedgepeth and Batton frequently expressed their appreciation for the warmth and hospitality they experienced on their visit.

And they were clearly impressed by the quality of the working studios they visited. Both said they couldn't wait to return for a longer visit.

drawer in the bedroom. He was very proud of it. He would take it out of the box, polish it till it shown like it was silver, and then show it to the grandchildren when he told them the story. They loved it and asked him to tell the story over and over.

They were very proud of him and what he did. One of them won a city scholarship on an essay she wrote on her grandfather's buckle.

The day the mayor gave her the scholarship in the school ceremony, she brought the buckle with her to show everyone. She had polished it so bright, I thought she'd wear the plating off."

"That's a wonderful story and adds a great deal of provenance to the buckle. Now for the surprise.

In my estimation, a nickel-plated buckle that had deflected sniper bullets during the Korean War would sell at auction for between $12,000 and $15,000 dollars.

"Oh, my goodness! The buckle is worth that much?"

"Well, the Government Issue box that you have with the buckle is really the key factor here.

Having it and the proof it was made in Madison rather than Amarillo drives the value up immensely. In all my years, I have only seen two authentic Government Issue belt buckle boxes and they were not in near as near perfect condition as your box nor did they come from Madison.

"However, I should tell you this. Part of the value of the buckle itself was destroyed when your father polished it. It is too bad that he did that.

Physical ambience is very important in belt buckles that have been hit by enemy fire. If he had kept it in its original beat-up appearance, that is, how it was when the bullet hit the buckle and wounded him, I feel positive that properly motivated buyers would easily bring as much as $25,000."

I thought of all this when pickup began giving trouble a few months ago. When I went around looking at the pickups on the market today, I slowly came to realize that all of that women's memories that were wrapped up in her father buckle would barely buy a stripped version of a 2003 small pickup truck.

It's a very old story of the real value of something not revealed by a dollar amount.

In five years the truck may well be traded in and forgotten. Whereas, any time she wants, the woman can go in the bedroom, open the drawer and pull out and touch a little bit of her father contained in a beat up, but brightly shined, nickel-plated belt buckle lying inside the tissues of an old GI box that by quirk of fate was made in Madison, Wisconsin.

Gardening

shiny leaves and stems give a cool, soothing feeling to the full-sun porch, patio or deck, where it is growing. Yet it is drought tolerant and tough enough to take the torrid Southern summer heat. This is one plant you can count on to be alive and performing in your landscape when you return from a summer vacation.

Silver Falls is perfect in mixed containers with the new Tidal Wave or Double Wave petunias, or Angel Mist angelonias.

Silver Falls is practically foolproof to grow. In a mixed container, choose a good, light, airy mix with good moisture- and nutrient-holding capacity.

There is no fuss or muss, insect or disease pressures are practically non-existent, and no pinching is required. Silver Falls recovers quickly if wilted. Silver Falls is an environmentally friendly plant that makes the grower look like a professional designer.

Silver Falls also offers great potential for a small groundcover. In our trials at the Truck Crops Branch Experiment Station, it was grown as such with hot pink petunias as a backdrop. When used as a groundcover, you will notice that it forms a dense mat that chokes out weeds.

Also try Silver Falls in front of colorful foliage like the Purple Knight althemanthera, or Mississippi Summer Sun coleus, one of last year's Mississippi Medallion award winners.

Whether you are choosing plants for mixed containers or for the landscape, select some with differing leaf and flower textures. Silver Falls will most assuredly give a unique and wonderful appearance all summer long.

Silver Falls and many more great new plants will be available for viewing at the Fall Flower and Garden Fest Oct. 17 and 18 at the Experiment Station in Crystal Springs. For more information on the festival, call (601) 892-3731.

Give a "Spirit of Fun" to Yourself, Your Friends, and Your Home with Gifts from

That Cute Little Shoppe

In the fall of 2001, Ron & Kathy Pinn purchased the old Waveland Drug Store and moved Kathy's business--That Cute Little Shoppe to its current address at 237 Coleman Avenue. The space of the store quadrupled and so did its inventory.

Newly loved furniture, gifts and home decor items run the gamut from "cottage cute to antique chic." There is a very large jewelry selection from "trendy to traditional."

Cats, dogs, frogs, sailboats and "too cute" characters adorn flags, kites, windsocks, whirlydooos and fun gift items. Then there's the new children and baby's section with toys and gifts for birthdays, showers, and "Gramma take-home surprises."

Kathy, Kate, Connie, & Carol are eager to help you and personally wrap your purchases. Gift baskets and phone orders are encouraged.

And last, but not least, there's Alice, the four-legged, furry greeter who awaits your attention.

Stop by for a pleasantly, surprising, hometown shopping experience.

Nature needs nurture

"I hate school! I just don't like being around there!"

Ricky is a huge, happy-go-lucky kid in his mid teens. The outburst was completely uncharacteristic of his easygoing, placid demeanor. What made it even more striking was the time and place: as he emerged from Sunday Mass. Taken aback, I asked what on earth was so repulsive about school.

Very uncomfortable, his eyes rotating up and down as his feet shifted from side to side, he demurred. It was obvious that he was very reluctant to say what was on his mind, even though it was eating him up by the minute. At last, he drew a deep breath, rolled his eyes up and got it out.

"It's those things they say. It's the language those children use. It's just so bad, I don't want to be around them."

That was not nearly the reason I would have thought he would give. Floored, I fished around for the kind of language Ricky was referring to.

"Do you mean these schoolmates of yours are using language that is dirty, obscene, profane and blasphemous?"

"All of that, and worse! I don't want to be around them because they are disgusting, common and ignorant!"

By this time, I had acquired a brand new appreciation of what many of our children are going through in the school environment. Not that I did not know such language is all over the place. It is just that problems other than bad language come to mind more readily and get most of our attention.

Nature has seldom been our problem. Contrariwise, nurture certainly has been our problem most of the time and is pressing upon us now even as we write and read. While this problem of nurture is alive and well in private schools, it is wild, woolly and endemic in most of our public schools.

What a relief to learn that the serious, dangerous and sometimes deadly circumstances of nurture, as we understand environment, can be as mild as bad language in the case of a rollicking Ricky. Thank God, Ricky was not running away from drugs or wild kids bent on the path of immorality.

Thank God, Ricky is such an innocent child that the biggest problem in his mind is the cacophony of curses, obscenities, profanities and filthy language unworthy of any human being, let alone our mothers, sisters and other ladies.

His innocence is clearly not stopping him from stiffing druggies and kooks.

Having cleared the air a bit with regard to the wayward children's speech, Ricky tested me on another puzzle: "How is it that the school leaders allow an eleventh-grade boy to dress in drag all the time?"

"In drag?" I asked. "All the time? Does he look like a girl?"

"All the time. And he looks just like a girl."

The most curious part of this statement was that the whole drag thing did not really bother him. Ricky shrugged his shoulders as he is wont to do, and blew it off into the unanswerable pile of school, teacher and administrator mysteries. His only real problem remained the kids' unbelievable language.

All of us have something to learn from Ricky's plight. First of all, the main problems of some, perhaps many, of our students may not be even close to what we imagine them to be. Nature is practically always clear.

Nurture, environment, is forever changing, forever a partial mystery in our lives.

"Nature determines how much we are capable of. Nurture determines how much we actually develop our capabilities." This half-century-old saying pinpoints what is going on in the life of each one of us. The perennial struggle to marry nature and nurture is our daily task at each moment.

Trouble is, nurture, as in home environment, is frequently the principal culprit at school. Nurture begins at home with the alcohol/drug culture, the incredibly bad language which disgusted Ricky, the oft immoral bent of the parent(s)/guardian, and the mantle of ignorance feeding right into the school.

Ignorance and terrible habits in the cradle of nurture severely impede and stunt the talents of nature. Everything learned in school is immediately untaught, undone back at home. Deprived of proper nurture at home, some kids look for it in support groups such as gangs where they feel like family.

Thus far, Ricky, who lost both parents early on, has been most fortunate to find great support and family identity in his saintly grandmother.

There is no doubt that she is the source of his keen sense of morality, of his dislike of all that is rowdy, common, profane, obscene, and of his balanced view of life.

Together, he and his grandmother have put the lie to the usual assumption that little good comes of a one-parent or no-parent background. As in so many cases, grandmother has been and remains mother in the most exalted and revered sense. She needs our prayers and all the support we can give her.

In cases like these, the African proverb rings true: "It takes a village to rear a child." Our enemies are many: the merchants of dirty speech, deadly drugs and immoral nurture. We outnumber them many times over, but we must overcome them by our presence, numbers and proactive thrusts.

Scripture Says . . .

By Ed Young

What's wrong with our nation? Why the violence, sex obsession, moral decay and religious apathy? Who's to blame?

The holy scripture tells us exactly.

If my people who are called by My name will humble themselves, and pray and seek My face, and turn from their wicked ways, then I will hear from heaven, and will forgive their sin and heal their land.

God is saying to Christians, you want your land healed? God is not asking the ungodly to pray and seek His face; He's telling His people to forsake their wicked ways and become humble before Him.

The ungodly have no intention of scripturally solving this national problem. Their mind set is, financial, political, and human reasoning. Which has failed to the utmost.

Many Christians today have no influence on the people they meet and know daily. The light is dim, the salt has lost its savor. We will give an account for that compromised life the world only knows of us.

Our children, and grandchildren have nothing to look forward to except a country that's becoming more and more with out God's standards.

God says, Christian repent and turn from your wicked ways. Seek and pray for a change in one's self, or suffer the lost of America as we know it. II Chronicles 7:14.

Let's all live a worth while life for our Heavenly Father and the Lord Jesus. Amen and Amen.

Military Mention

Navy Petty Officer 3rd Class Blake I. Garland, stepson of Mike Richard Reeves of Bay St. Louis, Miss., recently made a port visit to the city of Suva, Fiji while on a seven-month deployment to the Western Pacific and Arabian Gulf while assigned to USS O'Kane, homeported in Pearl Harbor, Hawaii.

Garland is one of the more than 300 Sailors aboard the Arleigh Burke-class destroyer.

Destroyers like USS O'Kane provide multi-mission offensive and defensive capabilities, and can operate independently or as part of carrier battle groups.

Garland joined the Navy in March 2002.

Coast Guard Reserve Seaman Kenneth A. Harshbarger, a 2000 graduate of Saint Stanislaus

High School, Bay St. Louis, Miss., recently graduated from the U.S. Coast Guard Recruit Training Center in Cape May, N. J.

During the eight-week training program, Harshbarger completed a vigorous training curriculum consisting of classroom academics and practical instruction on water safety and survival, military customs and courtesies, seamanship skills, first aid, firefighting and marksmanship. A major emphasis is also placed on physical fitness, health and wellness.

Harshbarger and other recruits also received instruction on the Coast Guard's three core values -- honor, respect and devotion to duty -- and how to apply them in their military performance and personal conduct. Harshbarger will join 36,000 other men and women who are the Coast Guard's force.

Men and women train together from the first day in the Coast Guard just as they do aboard ships and shore units throughout the world. To reinforce the team concept, Harshbarger, and other recruits were trained in preventing sexual harassment, drug and alcohol awareness, civil rights training, and the basics of the work-life balance, as well as total quality management.

Marine Corps Lance Cpl. Robert C. Day, a 1999 graduate of St. Stanislaus High School, Bay St. Louis, Miss., recently completed a training exercise near Djibouti, Africa while assigned to the 26th Marine Expeditionary Unit (MEU); based in Camp Lejeune, N.C.

Day is one of more than 4,000 Pacific Fleet Sailors and Marines deployed aboard the ships of the USS Iwo Jima Amphibious Ready Group.

Day's unit is an expeditionary intervention force with the ability to rapidly organize for combat operations in virtually any environment. MEUs are composed of more than 2,000 personnel and are divided into an infantry battalion, aircraft squadron, support group and command element. With this combination, Day's unit supplies and sustains itself for quick mission accomplishment and for clearing the way for follow-on forces.

Army Pvt. Christopher M. Ray has graduated from basic combat training at Fort Knox, Ky.

During the nine-week training, the trainee received instruction in drill and ceremony, weapons, rifle marksmanship and bayonet training, chemical warfare, field training and tactical exercises, armed and unarmed combat, military courtesy, military justice, physical fitness, first aid, and Army history, traditions, and core values.

Ray is the son of Jeanne and Daniel Ray of Waveland, Miss.

He is a 1996 graduate of Bay High School, Bay St. Louis, Miss.

Checking in With Adam Brody

By John Crook
© Zap2it

"The O.C." has drawn mixed reviews, but critics have been virtually unanimous in one respect: Adam Brody gives a breakout performance in the Tuesday-night Fox drama.

"In many ways, this is an ideal role for me," the actor says of Seth Cohen, his socially awkward yet endearing character. "I get to be funny, which I love, yet the show is basically a drama, so I get to do more serious stuff, too."

"And Josh (Schwartz, the series creator) is great about taking things from our real lives and incorporating them into the characters. Seth has become more like me the more we get into the show."

On paper, Brody's story sounds like the kind of thing most struggling actors love to hate: He decided to pursue acting after watching some of his contemporaries in videos during his tenure as a Blockbuster store clerk.

In reality, the slender San Diego native endured "the hardest year of my life" during the lonely period after he moved to Los Angeles and immersed himself in acting classes.

"I really threw myself into it," he says. "I think you have to. They say it all depends on who you know. They're wrong."

Some national commercials led to series roles in MTV's "Undressed" and "The Sausage Factory," as well as the role of Barry Williams in the TV movie "Growing Up Brady," and recurring roles on "Once and Again" and "Gilmore Girls."

Adam Brody

His performance as sweet-natured Dave Rygalski on the latter really boosted his recognition level.

"I am amazed at how many people come up to me," he says. "I think everyone who watches that show must just love it."

Born: Dec. 15, 1979, in San Diego.

Art imitates life: "I was kind of a bitter loner in high school, and I really resented my dad, so I'm like Seth in that way."

Worst job (acting division): "My first national commercial was for an acne medicine. In the 'before' scenes, they put really disgusting makeup on my face. I never saw it, but some girls who did told me I looked horrible. I thought: 'Great.'"

Guilt pleasure: Watching "Radical Jack," a movie starring Billy Ray Cyrus and Dedee Pfeiffer. "Rent it. It's just awesomely bad. It's just - well, rent it. I promise."

Pets: "None. My roommate and I own this condo, and yet we are not allowed to have a dog. What's that about? I don't understand it."

WB provides warm home to smart little family sitcom

By John Crook
© Zap2it

Megyn Price admits it feels nice but a little strange to get some respect.

"Yeah, it's foreign," she laughs, referring to the supportive way The WB Network has nurtured her family sitcom, "Grounded for Life," since Fox canceled it last season.

"Grounded," which stars Price and hipster icon Donal Logue as struggling young parents Claudia and Sean Finnerty, endured a now-you-see-it, now-you-don't life on the Fox schedule. Price's previous network sitcom, "Late Line," similarly suffered spotty scheduling at NBC before being yanked in an executive regime change.

"Now, (WB Network Entertainment President) Jordan Levin comes to our tapings and just generally lets us know he is a fan of the show," Price says. "Obviously, it's nice to be appreciated."

While the 2003 fall schedule is chock full of family sitcoms, "Grounded for Life" was ahead of that curve when it bowed in 2001 in a TV landscape otherwise cluttered with singletons. Her manager thought she was nuts to sign on to play a TV mom, recalls Price, who was only 29 herself when the show premiered.

"I have kind of a chubby face, so that helped, but my manager, my friends, everyone told me I was absolutely killing my career to play a mother," she laughs. "But the script was just so smart, so true, that I knew I wanted to do it. And the writers have been great about doing several stories about how Claudia is still very 'hot.'"

"But yeah, it's kind of silly. We sat down one day and figured out I would have had to give birth to Lynsey (Bartilson, who plays eldest Finnerty child Lily) when I was 11 to make the numbers add up."

Robert Wagner

"I was very close to Gregory Peck," says Robert Wagner, who stars in Hallmark Channel's "Mystery Woman" Sunday, Aug. 31. "He gave it a good run, and so did Katharine Hepburn. And so did Bob Stack, who was my dear, dear friend."

Miami is new home of Latin Grammy Awards on CBS

By Jay Bobbin
© Zap2it

In a real sense, the Latin Grammy Awards come home this year for the first time.

The city where many Latin music stars work and live, Miami, is the setting for the fourth annual edition of the event, which CBS will broadcast from American Airlines Arena on Wednesday, Sept. 3.

The mood will be generally celebratory, as nominees including Enrique Iglesias, Shakira, Luis Miguel, Chayanne, Elvis Crespo and Ruben Blades learn the results of the voting. However, a tribute to Celia Cruz, the award-winning Latin music artist who died in July, adds poignancy to the occasion.

Sergio George leads the pack of nominees with six bids, while four-time winner Juanes follows with five, and Natalia Lafourcade and Anibal Keprel each have four. The tune "Tal Vez," recorded by Ricky Martin, is up for song of the year.

Also among the nominees is Mexican star Thalía, who has broken into the American market in a big way this year, thanks to a self-named album - her first one completely in English - and the single "I Want You," a duet with hip-hop star Fat Joe.

"I'm having a good time," says Thalía, nominated for best female pop vocal album. "The way things are going, it's more than my expectations. I'm also putting out a fashion and jewelry collection. It's just incredible. I'm busy all the time."

Not that Thalía is complaining. "I'm very ambitious," she says. "I always want more after I get something I've dreamed about, so every day, I have a new target and a new path to follow. That's pretty much my law in life."

Winning a Grammy is one of her goals, and regardless of whether she gets to give an acceptance speech this year, Thalía is pleased simply to be in the running.

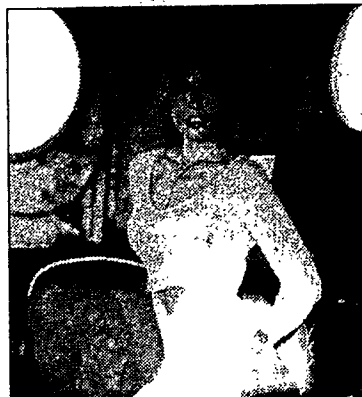

"It's like a caress after all this hard work," she says of the nomination. "After being in the studio and being creative with your co-writers and producers, and putting your heart and soul into each song and the whole concept of the album, it's nice that somebody recognized the work. Just to be there (at the ceremony) is the dream come true."

"The importance of having the Latin Grammys," she adds, "is that our culture is recognized now. We have rock bands, we have Christian music, just all kinds of singers and styles. It's great to be able to show how many things we have to offer, so having the Latin Grammys just extends our culture."

Thalía also is aware how much her teaming with a music star from a different background - namely, Fat Joe - can extend her own reach. "The opportunity was there," she says. "The producer of 'I Want You' brought the idea to me, and I found it very interesting. Fat Joe is part of the new Latin culture - the Latino who was born in the United States."

"It was great to work with him and talk about what we remembered from being kids. It was nostalgic, but also new and fresh. At the same time I'm getting exposure in his market, I'm bringing him into my market."

A popular TV actress in Mexico before concentrating on her singing career, Thalía met the legendary Celia Cruz on several occasions. She recalls Cruz's "beautiful smile. She had seen a soap opera I did, and she told me that she liked my work in it. Every time I saw her, she said, 'Oh, I liked your character!' She would go on and on about it."

Now making big strides in the U.S. market, singer Thalía is one of the nominees attending the 4th Annual Latin Grammy Awards. Originating from Miami for the first time, the ceremony airs Wednesday on CBS.

Our relationship was just from meeting at public events, but it was very nice."

Married to veteran recording executive Tommy Mottola, Thalía has made headlines for more than her music. In 2002, her two older sisters were kidnapped, then released unharmed (reportedly after Thalía paid a ransom).

"I think life is like a roller coaster," Thalía says. "Sometimes you're up, sometimes you're down, but I've always been able to start a new cycle of life. By having that mentality, I think I'm just attracting positive things this year. Things were so terrible and traumatic last year, I just decided I had to transform that energy, and I think it's working."

'Keen Eddie' had high quality, low ratings

By Taylor Michaels
© Zap2it

Q ■ What happened to Fox's "Keen Eddie"? It seemed the only bright light among the dim bulbs of summer programming. - Bob and Carol in Sarasota, Fla.

A ■ The action comedy starring Mark Valley was another heart-breaking case of a fresh and original series that was largely ignored by the viewing public, despite generally strong reviews.

It would have been nice if Fox had somehow stuck with this promising jewel, but networks these days are under intense pressure from affiliate stations and corporate executives to yank programs that show little signs of growth. ABC took a chance and relaunched its spring flop "The Family" this summer, only to watch that show bomb resoundingly yet again.

Q ■ My wife and I are stumped. Where is the "hotel" used in Fox's "Paradise Hotel" located? The setting is beautiful. Is it a real hotel where we could book a room for the night? -Michael Schadek, Columbus, Ohio.

Mark Valley

A ■ To sustain the show's fantasy element, Fox adamantly declines to confirm or deny the location. But the setting has been "outed" on a number of Web sites as a lavish Acapulco residence formerly known as Casa Arabesque, a villa that once belonged to the Baron and Baroness di Portanova of Italy.

Friends of the wealthy couple were entertained in lavish style at the villa, which reportedly had 28 bedrooms, 26 baths, plus multiple swimming pools and waterfalls.

After the baron and baroness died, her brother inherited the property, which he rents out for extravagant weddings, parties and occasional showbiz projects (the villa was featured in the James Bond film "A Licence to Kill"). The new owner says, however, that he hopes to convert at least part of the property into a boutique hotel within a year or so.

Q ■ On a courtroom drama, what does it mean when an attorney asks for "permission to treat as a hostile witness"? -Richard T. Walters, Hamilton, Ga.

A ■ Basically, the attorney is asking the judge to allow him or her more freedom to ask what might otherwise be considered leading questions, since the witness might not otherwise freely volunteer the information he seeks. A hostile witness is one whose testimony is not favorable to the party who calls him or her as a witness.

Wayne Brady's many gifts are unwrapped on his talk show

By Jacqueline Cutler
© Zap2it

Wayne Brady is talking on a cell phone while cruising along the north shore of Oahu, Hawaii, with his wife, Mandie, and their 6-month-old daughter, Maile. But while multitasking is nothing new for Brady, he's not used to messing up.

Brady is lost, although he doesn't seem worried. He wants to take the baby for a walk on the beach and visit places where his wife grew up.

Brady is in the midst of an 11-day break before returning to the syndicated "The Wayne Brady Show," which relaunches Monday, Sept. 1 (check local listings). The show won Daytime Emmy Awards this year for outstanding talk show host and outstanding talk show. Nearly doubling its reach within a year, the show now airs in more than 90 percent of the country on ABC affiliates and other stations.

Though relishing his success, Brady did not plan to be a talk show host. But with his ability to deliver a monologue, dance and sing, do silly sketches, and chat with guests, he has the look of a natural. If he is reminiscent of anyone, it would be Mike Douglas, with his singing and engaging but not fawning approach toward guests.

"You don't see Regis or anyone on 'The View' able to sing," Brady says. "They don't improvise shows or do impersonations. That's what makes it a variety show. And I sit in with the musical guests, and we have a performance element that you won't get anywhere else on daytime TV."

Two years ago, Brady's ABC summer variety show, also named "The Wayne Brady Show," harkened back to "The Carol Burnett Show" in its whimsy. Burnett, a Brady fan, has praised his work to others. "Having her talk to me was one of the most incredible experiences of my life," Brady says. "She came in and surprised me as I was doing a dress rehearsal, and I about peed myself."

On that 2001 show, Brady dressed up like his paternal grandmother, who had reared him since he was an infant. He surreptitiously borrowed one of her suits and had the costumers make an identical one for him. Grandma was in the audience when he came tottering out in heels, done up exactly like her and talking in a Virgin Island lilt. She took the joke well.

"Being a singer or musically inclined, I have always had a gift for trying to duplicate what I heard," he says. "As she was scolding me, I was talking back to her like her and getting my butt beaten. I would make her laugh."

Growing up in Orlando, Fla., Brady had no clear aspirations. He toyed with the idea of a military career. "I don't know if I wanted to be in the military," he says. "I just knew that ROTC was the best thing for me at the time. I was picked on a lot. I was kind of clumsy, a very typical teenage portrait of the hapless loser next door."

Like so many actors, once he tried a play in high school, life took on new meaning. "When I started doing 'Dark of the Moon,' I fell in with all of those other drama kids," he says. "On opening night, when I got a huge wave of applause, and I saw all the bullies in the front row and they were laughing and applauding, I knew this is it. The next day, I went and auditioned for a local production of 'Raisin in the Sun,' and I got it."

He has worked ever since, often under yards of plush costuming at amusement parks. "Which one didn't I work at?" he asks, laughing at the memory of so many hours logged in goofy Goofy suits. "I worked at Disney World, first as a performer and then as a character. I was Tigger, Goofy, Captain Hook and Winnie the Pooh."

He kept at it, and he credits those jobs for teaching him to react quickly, prime experience for his steady gig on ABC's "Whose Line Is It Anyway?"

"I got some of my earliest improv training," he says of those years. "I have been so lucky in the fact that every single thing I have done job-wise, from the teensiest job to the most incredible thing, has all helped make me the performer I am."

This performer, at 31, is also a bit sensitive. He brings up "Saturday Night Live" and "Mad TV" skits that poked fun at him. "If you need to sink to a certain level to get a laugh..." Brady says indignantly, trailing off for a moment. "If you are going to do something about someone, at least make it funny. Even shooting for a daytime show, you are going to create something where the audience can tune in and get a big laugh."

Brady is determined to keep the jokes clean and the guests happy.

"I didn't ask to do the show," he says. "Disney came after me. Doing a talk show was not high on my list of things to do. In fact, it was not on my list of things to do."

Brady was considering sitcoms when a Disney executive approached him about filling the nice niche when Rosie O'Donnell left. "I think she meant in terms of someone who could be a bright fixture on TV, who could try to do something positive as opposed to the, 'Yo, mamma, baby (shick),' he says. "At the worst, it couldn't hurt. And here we are a year and two Emmys later."

PBS documentary shows shades of gray in blacklist

At a time when speaking out is deemed un-American, and celebrities who criticize the president have their livelihoods threatened, comparisons to the McCarthy Era are inevitable.

Thousands of people had their lives destroyed 50 years ago because of their beliefs or perceived slights against the country, but few were as well known as those blacklisted in Hollywood. Among those caught in the furor were director Elia Kazan and writer Arthur Miller. Their story is told in PBS' "American Masters: Arthur Miller, Elia Kazan and the Blacklist: None Without Sin" Wednesday, Sept. 3 (check local listings).

Their friendship ended and Kazan was ostracized by many because he named friends as Communists before the House Un-American Activities Committee. Miller, who refused to cite anyone, was fined and received a one-month suspended jail sentence, wound up a hero of the left.

No one disputes the talent of the director of "On the Waterfront" and "A Streetcar Named Desire." But, the division his testimony created remained evident when he received the 1999 Lifetime Achievement Award at the Oscars, and some proud liberals, such as Tim Robbins and Susan Sarandon, remained seated while most of the audience rose for an ovation.

The documentary drags when it shows endless stills of Miller's "The Crucible," his play about the Salem witch hunts written during the Communist one. Still, there are interesting facets, such as showing Kazan in a more sympathetic manner than usual. Neither Kazan nor Miller is in the documentary because the former was not up to it, and it did not seem impartial to include one and not the other.

The film is at its best mining an old story for lesser-known angles, such as the agonizing Kazan did before testifying. As a youth, Kazan briefly belonged to the Communist Party.

Miller and Kazan shared a true bond. Kazan directed "Death of a Salesman," for which Miller won the Pulitzer Prize. They also had a woman in common - Marilyn Monroe.

Kazan bedded the unknown starlet, and Miller befriended her, staying true to a failing marriage. Miller and Monroe eventually wed, and she stood by him when he went before the committee.

Little proof was needed to destroy a career as actress and director Lee Grant knows. She eulogized actor J. Edward Bromberg, saying that being called before the committee and the ensuing loss of work led to his death. She also refused to testify against her first husband, Arnold Manoff. Consequently, she was blacklisted for 12 years, during which she taught acting. "You learn from history," Grant says. "And, I am history now... Every decade this nightmare pops up in a different form."

Most governments tend to react similarly when threatened and "oppress political or artistic thought," Christopher Trumbo, the documentary's writer, says. His father, Dalton Trumbo ("Spartacus"), was blacklisted and jailed. Still, Chris and Kazan's son are friends.

Dalton Trumbo continues to inspire, and Chris used a line of his for the title. "In the final tally, we were all victims because almost without exception each of us felt compelled to say things he did not want to say," Trumbo said of the era when accepting a 1970 award. "That is why none of us - right, left or center - emerged from that long nightmare without sin."

Marilyn Monroe and Arthur Miller weathered the storm when he was forced to testify before the House Un-American Activities Committee, as explained in PBS' "American Masters: Arthur Miller, Elia Kazan and the Blacklist: None Without Sin" Wednesday (check local listings).

ESPN's Salisbury: Bronco's, Bucs the class of NFL

By George Dickie
© Zap2it

The NFL season kicks off this week, and with it comes the usual round of questions. Can Bill Parcells make the Dallas Cowboys into a playoff team? Did the Washington Redskins finally spend their way into a postseason berth? And can the Tampa Bay Buccaneers repeat as champions?

These questions and more will begin to be answered when the season gets under way Thursday, Sept. 4. ABC's "Monday Night Football" crew of John Madden and Al Michaels will call the action when the Redskins host the New York Jets.

Sean Salisbury, a contributor to ESPN's "NFL Countdown," which will precede that telecast before settling into its customary Sunday morning time slot, recently discussed which teams he felt would win their divisions.

In the NFC East, Salisbury feels that while the Redskins have improved with yet another round of offseason free agent signings, and that Parcells will turn the Cowboys around, he looks for the Philadelphia Eagles to win the division. "I'm gonna take Philly. I don't think they're going all the way this year. There's too many 'ifs' on that team. But I do believe (running back Duce) Staley will get back eventually. Their receivers are an 'if,' but I saw Freddie Mitchell make a big play (in preseason). That needs to be more consistent. ... There's a lot of 'ifs' on Philly, but (quarterback Donovan) McNabb makes up for them. So I'll take Philly first."

The NFC North, Salisbury says, "is the Packers' division to lose unless (QB) Brett Favre decides to retire in Week 3 and they come up with a load of injuries and they just decide they want to miss the team bus. ... If Green Bay doesn't win the division, you and I both ought to be scratching our heads and wondering what's happening in the NFL."

Salisbury looks for the Bucs to again win the NFC South. "They've got the best chance to repeat of any team in the last 10 years," he says. "If there's a weakness on that team, I ain't seen it. If they stay injury free, they're probably the team to beat in the NFC."

With QB Kurt Warner healthy after an injury-riddled season, the St. Louis Rams are Salisbury's pick in the NFC West. "I think the Rams will be the biggest challenge to Tampa Bay or Atlanta. Atlanta's going to give Tampa all they can handle too. ... I love the fact they went and got a defensive lineman in Jimmy Kennedy. ... Their front seven moves around pretty doggone well and they're fast. If they can hold up in the secondary, the Rams will be right there in the end."

Salisbury feels the AFC East is football's toughest division, with the New York Jets, Buffalo Bills, New England Patriots and Miami Dolphins. "I could take the fourth-place team and put them first and sit here right now and say that I feel pretty good about that team," he says. "I'm going to pick Miami. (Coach Dave) Wannstedt's averaged over 10 1/2 wins a year. There's no way in the world you should have an 1,800-yard rusher (Ricky Williams) and have the third-ranked defense in the NFL and not make the playoffs."

Salisbury sees the Pittsburgh Steelers prevailing in the AFC North. "I do know that in Pittsburgh, they're physical, that they have three very gifted wide receivers, that they have three big backs who can run, and they've got a quarterback who's not going to get you beat most of the time. Pittsburgh wins that division, and not in easy fashion."

In the AFC South, Salisbury likes the Tennessee Titans. "Tennessee is mentally tough. They're angry at the world. They had one Pro Bowler last year. Something's wrong with that picture. ... And (QB Steve) McNair, there's no tougher player. McNair's as tough as it gets, and if he plays a full season healthy, he'll be one of the top players in the league. Unless they do something stupid, they should win that division."

The Denver Broncos' acquisition of quarterback Jake Plummer makes them Salisbury's pick to win the AFC West. "He's got that look in his eyes that a lot of them don't have. And he'll learn discipline. ... (Coach Mike) Shanahan will not let him get out of control. They'll move the pocket but they'll also allow him to get the ball out of his hands. He's got three good receivers. He's got a running back that may score 15, 20 touchdowns this year. ... So I like the Broncos to win the AFC West, and I like Plummer to be an MVP candidate."

"NASCAR Winston Cup Southern 500" Sunday, Aug. 31 (NBC, 1 p.m. ET): He's got his work cut out for him, but if any driver can make up the necessary ground on points leader Matt Kenseth, it's four-time Cup champion Jeff Gordon. He's got an excellent chance to chip into Kenseth's lead today in the Southern 500 from Darlington Raceway in Darlington, S.C. Gordon's made a second home in Darlington's victory circle, winning NASCAR's oldest superspeedway race five times, including last year.

"San Francisco Giants at Arizona Diamondbacks" Sunday, Aug. 31 (ESPN, 8 p.m. ET): Barring a monumental collapse by the San Francisco Giants, they will be crowned NL West champions some time next month. So, the task for the Arizona Diamondbacks when they host the Giants tonight is to keep pace in a tight wild-card race, and that means keeping a tight lid on Barry Bonds' explosive bat. Bonds leads the majors in OPS, which is on-base and slugging percentage combined, a true measure of how offensively productive a player is.

"U.S. Open, Women's Final" Saturday, Sept. 6 (CBS, 8 p.m. ET): The ratings bonanza that's resulted from the previous two prime-time women's finals might not transpire this time around. CBS even moved this match up an hour in hopes of attracting more viewers, but what they didn't anticipate was the absence of injured defending champion Serena Williams, who combined with her sister, Venus, to draw even casual tennis fans to the sport in the Open's last two finals. Dick Enberg, John McEnroe and Mary Carillo call the action.

Soap Talk

Beloved actress returns after long absence

By Candace Havens
© Zap2it

Daytime favorite Judi Evans returns to "Days of Our Lives."

Beginning Monday, Sept. 1, Evans portrays Bonnie Lockhart, a down-on-her-luck singer with big dreams and a penchant for the lottery. She also is Mimi Lockhart's (Farah Fath) mother.

Bonnie comes on the scene when Mimi moves out of her mother's house and into Belle Brady's (Kirsten Storm) loft.

"We are absolutely thrilled to have Judi back on our show," co-executive producer Steve Wyman says.

The last time Evans acted in "Days," she portrayed Adrienne Johnson from 1986-1991. Adrienne was the sister of Patch Johnson (Stephen Nichols) and Jack Deveraux (Matthew Ashford).

Daytime fans also may know the actress from her roles as Beth Raines in "Guiding Light" and Paulina Cory in "Another World."

In other news: Jordi Vilasuso (Tony Santos, "GL") is being replaced by former "General Hospital" star Coltin Scott, who now goes by the name Stephen Martines.

Vilasuso is pursuing a career in prime time and film.

Dear Candace: How long will the writers keep us running in circles on "Passions," and how much more do they think we can take?

I've been a fan since the beginning but I get so fed up with some of the main characters who never have to pay for being bad. I'm talking about Beth (Kelli McCarty) and Theresa (Lindsay Korman). And I hate what Kay (Deanna Wright) is doing to Miguel (Jesse Metcalfe). Some of my friends have already stopped watching because they are tired of the same old thing. I'm not far behind them. -Helen Pegues via the Internet.

Dear Reader: Head writer James E. Reilly likes to stretch out a tale and keep viewers on the edge of their seats.

Dear Candace: On "All My Children," the character David (Vincent Irizarry) read a poem at his daughter's funeral from a book called "Little Rabbit's World." Could you please tell me who the publisher of the book is and how I can order it? -P. Watson via the Internet.

Dear Reader: The folks at "AMC" created it as a prop.

Smallville

Clark's (Tom Welling) emotions — and powers — go out of control when Lana (Kristin Kreuk) is attacked by a college student in "Precipice." Lex (Michael Rosenbaum) considers vigilante justice after Helen's (Emmanuelle Vaugier) ex-boyfriend attacks her when she rejects his efforts to reunite.

7 p.m. on 19-PBS

7 p.m. on 54-UPN

Enterprise

T'Pol (Jolene Blalock) faces a tough choice brought on by her Vulcan heritage in "Bounty." Before her time, she starts going through Pon Farr, a life cycle that dictates she must mate — or die. Phlox and Reed (John Billingsley, Dominic Keating) become the targets of her efforts to stay alive.

Unsolved History

The tremors that uprooted San Francisco in the early hours of April 18, 1906, caused massive destruction that amounted to $400 million of damage, and left half the city's population without shelter. The new episode "San Francisco Earthquake" reveals the results of research by museum historians, which suggest a scheme to cite a different cause for the destruction.

7 p.m. on HBO

Movie: Training Day

8 p.m. on 4-CBS

8 p.m. on 6-NBC

The West Wing

Who leaked a pivotal piece of information to the press? The desperate search for the answer has an impact that reaches all the way to the Oval Office in "Life on Mars." As big as the crisis seems, even bigger ones loom for the White House staff — including its newest member, an attorney (guest star Matthew Perry, "Friends") who was the first person to discover the initial problem.

8 p.m. on 19-PBS

American Masters

The blacklist era hit the entertainment world hard, with many friendships destroyed by some individuals' decision to name names before the House Un-American Activities Committee. One such situation is recalled in the new episode "Arthur Miller, Elia Kazan and the Blacklist: None Without Sin," tracing the rupture caused by director Kazan's allegations against playwright Miller.

Movie: Gods and Monsters

Ian McKellen earned an Oscar nomination for his portrayal of British director James Whale ("Frankenstein") in this 1998 drama, a fictionalized account of the last year of Whale's life. Reclusive and mildly incapacitated by a stroke, the openly gay Whale makes a young gardener (Brendan Fraser) his platonic friend and a sounding board for his reminiscences.

Friday Best Bets

7 p.m. on USA

Movie: The Deep End of the Ocean

The Jacquelyn Mitchard best seller, which Oprah Winfrey made one of the first selections in her book club, is the basis of this 1999 drama. Michelle Pfeiffer stars as the mother of a missing boy (Ryan Merriman). When he turns up nine years later, his mom and dad struggle to adjust to his return — and to their own mixed emotions. Whoopi Goldberg plays the detective assigned to the case. Treat Williams and Jonathan Jackson also star.

7:30 p.m. on 8-FOX on 25-FOX

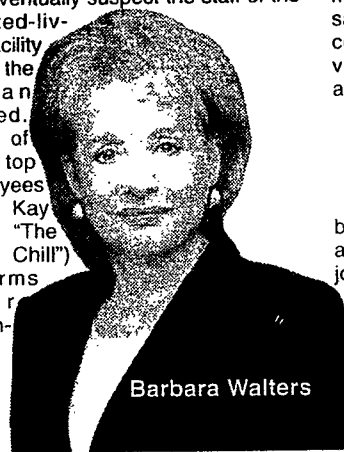

Wanda at Large

Wanda (Wanda Sykes) faces a conflict of interest when she starts dating a Board of Health executive (guest star Mario Joyner) while investigating health-code violations in "King Rat." News footage reveals that some of the worst offenses are in the board's own cafeteria, forcing Wanda to decide between her personal life and her professional obligations.

8 p.m. on 6-NBC

Law & Order: Special Victims Unit

Veteran MGM musical star Jane Powell ("Seven Brides for Seven Brothers") plays an abused senior citizen in "Vulnerable." Her son (Jay Thomas, "Cheers") is the initial target of Benson and Stabler's (Mariska Hargitay, Christopher Meloni) investigation, but they eventually suspect the staff of the assisted-living facility where the woman resides. One of its top employees (Mary Kay Place, "The Big Chill") confirms their hunches.

Barbara Walters

8 p.m. and DSC

Love Behind Bars

Being incarcerated isn't necessarily a deterrent to romance, as inmates have proven by starting or continuing relationships while they're in prison. This new special surveys several of those situations, one of which involves a couple who recently marked their 30th wedding anniversary after having two children — conceived during conjugal visits. Convicts discuss how they cope with separation from their mates.

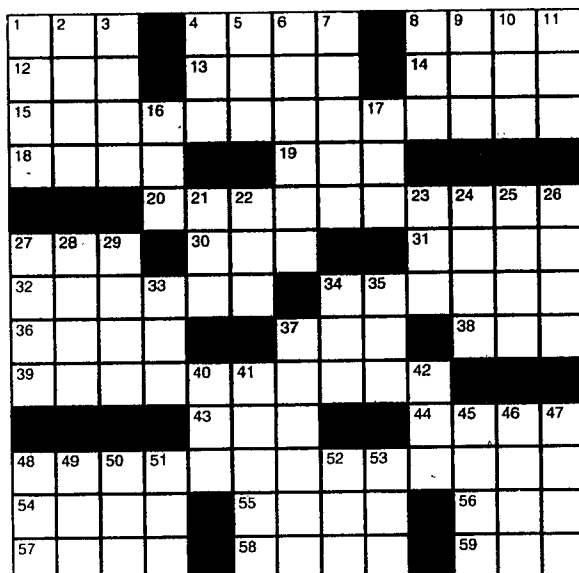

9 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC

The venerable newsmagazine begins its 24th season, distinguished as always by the presence of TV-journalism icon Barbara Walters as both anchor and frequent winner of the big "get" when it comes to exclusive interviews. Other continuing correspondents include John Stossel, Tom Jarriel, Lynn Sherr, Brian Ross, Bob Brown, Deborah Roberts and Dr. Timothy Johnson.

Saturday Best Bets

6:30 p.m. on TBS

Movie: National Lampoon's Animal House

John Belushi went from "Saturday Night Live" cutup to major movie star after appearing in this 1978 comedy, which revived the campus toga party fad and gave us the most memorable dead-horse scene in film since "The Godfather." Tim Matheson, Stephen Furst, Tom Hulce, Karen Allen and Donald Sutherland also star.

7 p.m. on 4-CBS

U.S. Open Tennis

The ratings bonanza that's resulted from the previous two prime-time women's finals might not transpire this time around. CBS even moved this match up an hour in hopes of attracting more viewers, but what they didn't anticipate was the absence of injured defending champion Serena Williams, who combined with her sister, Venus, to draw even casual tennis fans to the sport in the Open's last two finals. Dick Enberg, John McEnroe and Mary Carillo call the action.

7 p.m. on HBO

Movie: My Big Fat Greek Wedding

A defining movie of 2002, this hugely successful and entertaining comedy transfers writer and star Nia Vardalos' stage show to film, thanks to producers Tom Hanks and Rita Wilson. Vardalos plays a Greek woman who risks her tradition-bound family's wrath when she falls for, then plans to wed, a decidedly non-Greek educator (John Corbett, "Sex and the City"). Michael Constantine, Lainie Kazan and Joey Fatone co-star.

8:45 p.m. on HBO

Showgirls: Glitz & Angst

Many women vie to appear in Las Vegas shows — and as much pressure as there is in auditioning, the tension builds even more once the cast is decided and rehearsals begin. Using amateur video footage, this new special provides an inside look at the production, with special emphasis on the physical rigors that chorus-line members must endure before and during the show.

9 p.m. on 4-CBS

The District

Ving Rhames ("Don King: Only in America") reprises his role as the attorney general in "Rage." After a videotape apparently shows Sgt. Brander (Wayne Duvall) exhibiting police brutality, rioting breaks out, with Mannion (Craig T. Nelson) shouldering the blame. He refuses to fire Brander, prompting the mayor (Joseph C. Phillips) to consider firing Mannion. Temple (Sean Patrick Thomas) pursues an old foe.

(Ratings for each film begin with a "star" rating - one star meaning "poor," four meaning "excellent" - followed by the Motion Picture Association of America rating, and then by a family-viewing guide, the key for which appears below.)

STARTING THIS WEEK (New releases):

"IDENTITY": A fierce rainstorm strands a group of strangers at an isolated motel in director James Mangold's ("Girl, Interrupted") effective, "Ten Little Indians"-style thriller. Although they initially don't think they have much else in common, the increasingly terrified people start to realize that something specific has brought them together as a killer stalks them, one-by-one. The cast includes John Cusack, Ray Liotta, Amanda Peet, Alfred Molina, Rebecca De Mornay and John C. McGinley. DVD extras: theatrical trailer; audio commentary by Mangold; "making-of" documentary; deleted scenes; alternate ending.  (R: AS, P, V)

"ALIAS: THE COMPLETE FIRST SEASON": Before the intriguingly complex ABC espionage series starts its third year, this six-DVD set lets viewers revisit the show's roots. Jennifer Garner became a star as Sydney Bristow, a college student and secret international spy. She questions her choices after learning that SD-6, the supposedly CIA-connected bureau for which she works, isn't what she thought. Victor Garber, Ron Rifkin and Michael Vartan also star. DVD extras: home-video trailer; audio commentary on selected episodes; making-of documentaries; deleted scenes and bloop-

ers; auditions; preview of the series' third season.  (Not rated: AS, P, V)
"A MAN APART": A seemingly invincible DEA agent, played by Vin Diesel ("XXX"), gets hit where it hurts the most by an enemy in this somewhat familiar but taut melodrama from director F. Gary Gray ("The Negotiator"). After he and his partner (Larenz Tate) stop a drug kingpin's (Geno Silva) operation, the agent is devastated when his wife (Jacqueline Obradors, "NYPD Blue") is killed in an ambush at home. With revenge his sole reason for living, he seeks information from an imprisoned drug dealer. DVD extras: theatrical trailer; deleted scenes.  (R: AS, P, V)

"ESCAPE TO WITCH MOUNTAIN": Orphaned siblings Tia and Tony (Kim Richards, Ike Eisenmann) have unusual powers that a sinister millionaire (Ray Milland) wants to harness for his own purposes. His chief henchman (Donald Pleasence) poses as their uncle, intending to capture them and deliver them to the boss, but a crusty, good-hearted widower (Eddie Albert) interferes. Making its DVD debut, this classic 1975 Disney fantasy movie co-stars Denver Pyle ("The Dukes of Hazard"); also available is the 1978 sequel, "Return From Witch Mountain."  (G: V)

"HOME ALONE: TAKING BACK THE HOUSE": Spunky young Kevin, played here by Mike Weinberg ("Stolen Summer"), tries to outwit another pair of criminals (French Stewart, Missi Pyle) in this made-for-ABC sequel to the three theatrical films. Kevin spends Christmas with his father (Jason Beghe) and Dad's new girlfriend (Joanna Goings), who has a high-tech house. Another holiday guest is a crown prince, the kidnapping target of the criminals - who don't expect Kevin's interference. DVD extras: home-video trailer; deleted scenes.  (Not rated: V)

"LAST CALL": The last days of literary legend F. Scott Fitzgerald are recalled in this made-for-Showtime drama, casting Oscar winner Jeremy Irons as the author and Neve Campbell ("Party of Five") as his secretary. She learns of his distress over his institutionalized wife, Zelda (Sissy Spacek), and becomes his main confidante, giving him the inspiration to proceed with what would be his final work, "The Last Tycoon." The film was written for television and directed by Henry Bromell ("Homicide: Life on the Street," "I'll Fly Away").  (Not rated: AS, P)

COMING SOON (Upcoming releases):

"BULLETPROOF MONK" (Sept. 9): A monk (Chow Yun-Fat) tries to recruit a young martial-arts-movie devotee (Seann William Scott) to be the new guardian of an ancient scroll. (PG-13: AS, P, V)

"CONFESSIONS OF A DANGEROUS MIND" (Sept. 9): George Clooney's directorial debut stars Sam Rockwell as game-show mogul - and alleged CIA spy - Chuck Barris. (R: AS, P, V)

"THE CORE" (Sept. 9): Scientists tunnel their way to the center of the earth to stop a strange force from destroying the world. Hilary Swank and Aaron Eckhart star. (PG-13: P, V)

"VIEW FROM THE TOP" (Sept. 9): Gwyneth Paltrow and Christina Applegate play airline stewardesses in a comedy also starring Rob Lowe, Candice Bergen and Mike Myers. (PG-13: AS, P)

"ANGER MANAGEMENT" (Sept. 16): A businessman (Adam Sandler) is wrongly sentenced by a judge to be counseled by a rage-control therapist (Jack Nicholson). (PG-13: AS, P, V)

ABC's Jimmy Kimmel talks late into the night

By Kate O'Hare
© Zap2it

On an uncharacteristically steamy Los Angeles night, Hollywood Boulevard is closed to traffic - again. The ESPY Awards are coming up the next evening at the Kodak Theatre, part of a large entertainment complex at the corner of Hollywood and Highland. Thinking something is actually happening at that moment, tourists peer over barricades in vain.

Across Hollywood, in studios at Disney's historic El Capitan Theatre, the cavelike greenroom of "Jimmy Kimmel Live" is buzzing a half-hour in advance of the night's live broadcast of the ABC talk hour, which airs weeknights following "Nightline."

"The whole street is closed down for one reason," Kimmel says, "so they can have a red carpet. I don't know why they can't build that overnight the night before."

The greenroom bar is open (but not to the audience, a lesson Kimmel and crew learned early on) and staffers lay out sandwiches and snacks. Hip-hop kids mingle with executive and showbiz types, and the atmosphere is more like a private party than a talk show holding area.

According to executive producer Daniel Kellison (who shares that title with Kimmel), "We get celebrities to come by and hang out in the greenroom, just because they know it's a fun place to be on a Friday night, even if they're not on the show."

Unlike some more austere talk show sets, Kimmel's gilded, rococo setting is more in keeping with the lavish, richly decorated El Capitan - except for two signs left over from "The Man Show." Instead of the standard "Applause" and "Quiet," they say "Clap You Bastards" and "Shut the F--- Up."

But in achieving intimacy, the set wound up too small for music acts.

For those segments, during the commercial break, production assistants rapidly usher audience members - by then whipped into a frenzy by Kimmel's manic warm-up guy, Don Barris - either into an adjacent, clublike performance space or out onto the street.

"That's what we do," Kimmel says. "It's half talk show, half emergency evacuation procedure."

Since its premiere after the Super Bowl in January, "Jimmy Kimmel Live" has suffered growing pains, many a direct result of its host.

"On the show, I get in trouble," Kimmel says. "It's not just a trend as to what they object to, it's a trend as to what all my employers have objected to throughout my entire life. It usually turns out to be about the same thing - sometimes I forget I'm on television."

"Like, we had a thing where Patton Oswalt, one of the (weekly) co-hosts, there was a sketch that involved him taking an electric razor to my bare butt. They were not so happy about that."

"They were like, 'You're the host of a talk show.' I went, 'Oh, yeah, I am.' I forget sometimes."

Fans of Kimmel's previous shows - including "Fox NFL Sunday" and Comedy Central's "Win Ben Stein's Money," "The Man Show" and "Crank Yankers" - know he speaks his mind.

That's fine, unless you need other people to be on your show, too.

"What I've done in the past has made it difficult for me to get guests," Kimmel says. "People who know me from 'The Man Show' are terrified to put on their actresses or finicky stars. Publicists work for their clients, and their main concern is not necessarily promoting the client but protecting the client. They want to be careful, and it's not really being careful, putting them on this show."

"Celebrities continue to amaze me at the stupid things they do," Kellison says. "Then in a lot of talk-show environments, you can't really make fun of celebrities. You make a joke about Arnold Schwarzenegger and his ridiculous actions, running for governor, and you know you're not going to get him on the show. And it's very likely his publicist has other clients."

"For us, for Jimmy especially, he needs to be true to his convictions and let the chips fall where they may. What people are seeing, though, is he's a good host. So when people come on the show, it's a comfortable experience, as much as he goes out there on a limb on some of these people who do dumb things."

"As it goes on," Kimmel says, "and people come away happy - which is the vast majority of them - it makes it easier to get guests."

Oddly enough, Kimmel says it's easy to get new co-hosts every week - from John Edward and Monica Lewinsky to Snoop Dogg and Mike Tyson. "Secretly everybody wants to be a talk show host," Kimmel says. "It's like going to talk-show-host fantasy camp for a week."

ABC's late-night talk show "Jimmy Kimmel Live," airing weeknights, features the comedy and interviewing skills of the outspoken former co-host of Comedy Central's "The Man Show."
